FRENCH CABINET RESIGNS TODAY BRINGING CRISIS

Coalition of Radicals and Socialists is the Cause of Break

Paris, Nov. 6.—(AP)—The Poincare cabinet, which has been in office since July 23, 1926, resigned in a body today after four Radical Socialist ministers offered their resignations. The Radicals who resigned were Albert Sarraut, Minister of Interior; Edouard Herriot, Minister of Education; Henry Queille, Minister of Agriculture; and Leon Perrier, Minister of Colonies.

The Radicals announced that their party's program made continued collaboration with the National Union cabinet impossible.

Premier Poincare presented the government's resignation to President Doumergue shortly after noon. The cabinet, with the exception of the four Radical ministers who absented themselves, devoted three hours to discussing the crisis. The view of the Premier that the whole cabinet must withdraw instead of reorganizing to appear before Parliament, which convenes this afternoon, was finally accepted.

The public first learned that the dreaded ministerial crisis had come when the four Radical ministers failed to put in an appearance at the cabinet meeting. It was learned that M. Herriot had called on the Premier at the Ministry of Finance and had presented his resignation.

A prolonged discussion, presided over by President Doumergue, was then opened with a view to determining whether reorganization of the present cabinet was possible. The Premier declared that under no circumstances could he allow any of his ministers to depart without a collective resignation.

News of the cabinet's resignation caused a great impression on the Bourse which already had become weak yesterday on the supposition that the recent decisions of the Radical party meant an eventual break in the government. There was still a tendency in financial and political circles, however, to believe that Poincare would dominate the situation while there was a good deal of skepticism as to whether the Radicals would really take the responsibility of a ministerial crisis before the stabilized franc was more firmly entrenched.

May Form New Gov't
When the resignation became known there was talk of the consequences, with the majority of observers inclined to expect that President Doumergue will insist upon Poincare forming another government. There was also talk of Briand, Herriot, Painleve or Tardieu in case the Premier insists upon retiring.

The cabinet went down principally because of the desire of the Radicals to reorganize the old bloc of the left and to return to power with the support of the socialists. The immediate reasons for an assault on the government were: increased appropriations for national defense, a proposal to allow Jesuit missionary congregation to return to France and a conflict between the Premier and the finance committee of the Chamber of Deputies over the budget.

The final blow that exhausted the Premier's patience was a resolution adopted by the Radical convention in a night session declaring that the party program could be carried out only by a union of parties of the left and that the National Union was unable to accomplish the reforms which the party had decided upon. This resolution was put through the convention by surprise after most of the delegates had left the hall. Herriot, Sarraut, Perrier and Queille, who had opposed such action, placed in the presence of this accomplished fact, decided that they could not resist.

"Machine" Wrecked

Chicago, Nov. 6.—(AP)—The Tribune today says the people have been deprived of the opportunity to wreck the Mayor Thompson-State's Attorney Crowe political machine at the polls today — the machine having wrecked itself in last minute "deals and double-crossing."

State's Attorney Crowe, the paper says, openly has endorsed candidates opposing the regular nominees of his faction and his party, chief of them being Anton Cermak, the Democratic Senatorial candidate. This action aroused Otis F. Glenn, Republican nominee for Senator, into issuing a statement in which he charged Cermak, in return for Crowe's endorsement, was to use his influence toward giving the State's Attorney the District Attorney's office in case Cermak is elected.

Crowe, the paper also says, has made a "deal" with another Democrat, T. J. Crowe, president of the Sanitary District, by which they hope to gain control of the sanitary district and the $60,000,000 it has budgeted.

AUTO DEALERS PREPARING FOR STATE MEETING

Convention to be Held in Dixon Early in Coming Month

To make plans for the state convention of Automobile Dealers of Illinois, which will meet in annual session at Dixon, December 10 and 11, the Automotive Dealers Association of Dixon held a meeting last evening at the Nachusa Tavern. Dinner was enjoyed in a private dining room before the business was taken up.

C. A. Nott was elected secretary of the association and President J. L. Glassburn announced the committees that will provide ways and means for the convention:

Arrangements: George W. Burch, Ray Kline, George Murray and Frank Hoyle.

Registration: Floyd Eno, C. E. Mossholder, Emory Countryman and Leo Miller.

Entertainment: Ed. Newman, Carl Newman, C. A. Nott and Clarence Heckman.

Finance: Ed. Newman, Floyd Eno and George Burch.

Reception: Carl Newman.

Brief talks were made by President Glassburn and John H. Byers, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

The state convention was held last year at LaSalle and in the contest for the convention this winter, cities like Peoria, Springfield, Galesburg and Rockford, put up a great fight for the convention, but the Dixon delegation spiked the contest early in the game and obtained the convention. It is expected that between 350 and 400 auto dealers will be in Dixon during the convention.

May Lose His Throne

Bucharest, Rumania, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Some political observers see in the turn of events in Rumania which have followed the resignation of the government headed by Premier Vinetia Bratianu a possibility that the 7-year-old King Michael may never actually rule his people.

With Julio Maniu, leader of the National Peasants party, one of the possible choices of the regency, who rule for the boy king, for the Premier, political observers point to Maniu's leanings toward a republican form of government. They are beginning to fear that Michael like his exiled father, former Crown Prince Carol, may never be actually the king.

KILLED AT POLLS

Charleston, W. Va., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Clyde Moore was shot and killed at a polling place near Left Hand hill, an isolated section of Roane county today during a political argument, state police headquarters were advised by an officer in that district. The report said that Judd Huffman had shot Moore.

A. P. FAIRNESS PRAISED TODAY BY CANDIDATES

Hoover, Smith, Curtis and Robinson Tell of Satisfaction

New York, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Commendation for its success in adhering to this campaign to impartial and thorough news coverage has been written to The Associated Press by each of the two leaders of the two major parties. The communication in each case gives signal recognition to each member of The Associated Press staff assigned personally to the candidate.

Immediately after the conventions Kent Cooper, General Manager of The Associated Press, wrote letters to Governor Smith and Secretary Hoover assuring them that The Associated Press would, as always, endeavor to adhere to its principle of unbiased reporting of facts and expressed the hope that at the close of the campaign each candidate would feel that he could say that in this effort The Associated Press had been successful. Cooperation with The Associated Press writers was also asked.

Through a strenuous campaign these writers have written hundreds of thousands of words, covering every conceivable angle of the political activities. Today Mr. Cooper is in receipt of the following four communications:

From Gov. Smith
"At the outset of the campaign I received a letter from you restating a well-known non-partisan position of The Associated Press. In that communication you said 'The Associated Press again would do its best to be fair and accurate and present an unbiased report to its members.'"

"The end of the campaign is now at hand and I wish to congratulate you and the personnel of your organization on the work it has done. I have followed The Associated Press report as closely as the demands of campaigning would permit and this report in my opinion has been an accurate one of what has taken place."

"You have set forth my views and position fairly and I wish to congratulate you and the members of your staff assigned to me: Miss Dalrymple and Messrs. Oliver and Chamblin, for what has been done."

Sincerely Yours,
(Signed) ALFRED E. SMITH.

Hoover's Thanks

"I want you to know of my gratitude for the uniform courtesy extended by Mr. James L. West, chief of the staff assigned to me during the presidential campaign and by his assistants Mr. W. B. Ragsdale and Miss Mary Bainbridge Hayden. Mr. West and his co-workers have demonstrated their fairness in a most marked degree and I am thankful to them and to you for their splendid cooperation."

Faithfully yours,
(Signed) HERBERT HOOVER.

From Sen. Curtis

"It gives me great pleasure to write you in regard to the splendid service of Mr. Francis Stephenson who has been with me in the campaign representing your association up to the end of the campaign. I have found him very attentive to his duties, always on the lookout for news and perfectly fair in his reports."

"I am writing this of my own volition because I think it due him for you to know of his splendid services."

Yours very truly,
CHARLES CURTIS.

Found Men Fair

"Mr. Walter Chamblin in the first stages of the campaign and Mr. Raymond Z. Henle in the latter part of it, representing The Associated Press attended me on my tour through thirty states. They were at all times fair, diligent and able in representing The Associated Press and in reporting my addresses. I found them both courteous, companionable and ready to work at all times."

Sincerely Yours,
JOSEPH T. ROBINSON.

Charles Plock Died at Home Last Night

Charles W. Plock passed away at the family home, 621 Carroll avenue, last evening. He had been a resident in the vicinity of Dixon for the past 26 years following the vocation of farming until his retirement a few years ago. Mr. Plock was born in Hesse, Darmstadt, Germany. Funeral services will be conducted from the home Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The obituary will be published later.

LINDY FOR HOOVER

St. Louis, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh will cast his first ballot for a presidential candidate today. He arrived late yesterday from Mexico by airplane and intends returning either this afternoon or tomorrow. Col. Lindbergh reiterated his intention of voting for Herbert Hoover for President.

FOUR AND HALF THOUSANDS OF DIXON VOTERS HAD VOTED AT 1 O'CLOCK THIS AFTERNOON

Poll Here in Keeping With Tremendous Vote in U. S.

Indications at 1 o'clock this afternoon pointed to a record breaking vote in each of the eleven Dixon precincts. At that hour a total of 4,456 persons had cast their ballot. In the second precinct at the Netz garage this morning almost an average of 100 votes in one hour, a record for that precinct was recorded. In all of the precincts the voting was heavy the women manifesting an equal amount of interest with the men. At 1 o'clock the vote in the various city precincts was recorded as follows:

First precinct, 305; second precinct, 468; third precinct, 355; fourth precinct, 336; fifth precinct, 336; sixth precinct, 305; seventh precinct, 350; eighth precinct, 518; ninth precinct, 545; tenth precinct, 401; eleventh precinct, 637. Total, 4,456.

BY BYRON PRICE.
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

The mighty political currents of 1928 met at the polls today in a tremendous whirlpool of ballots.

Reports gathered by The Associated Press from every corner of the country told an unvarying story of a national turnout, quickly leaving previous records far behind. Almost everywhere, women were among the voters in unprecedented numbers.

In nearly the whole country, it was a fair-weather election. A part of New England and some other northern sections voted under overcast skies and there were showers at scattered points in upstate New York, in southern and eastern Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi, and in some parts of the Rock Mountain states. Over most of the farm country and the south skies were clear and roads good, even where wet weather prevailed, it did not greatly reduce the big outpouring of votes.

Voting Orderly.

The first hours of the voting were orderly despite the bitterness of the issues which were being washed out in the tidal upheaval at the ballot box.

The day's nationwide tendency toward early voting was reflected in a new record in the two Massachusetts precincts which for years have prided themselves on being first to report their returns. Both of them came under the wire this year before 7 a. m., with 100 per cent reports of the choice of their handful of voters. Always heavily Republican, these precincts gave all the best of it to Hoover. Two early-counting precincts in the south, one in Alabama and one in South Carolina, showed long-sided majorities for Smith. One collection of precincts in Houston, Texas, however reported Smith and Hoover running neck and neck.

Reports as to the magnitudes of the early vote everywhere were so unprecedented as to be almost unbelievable. In east and west and south, the opening of the polls found long queues of men and women waiting eagerly.

Burial of Murdered Negro was Held Up

The body of Ira Jarman, who was murdered in the Regent hotel, was held up for several days to allow relatives living in Georgia ample time to claim the body and arrange for its disposal. It was decided that Jarman be buried in a potter's field, but a dispute has arisen as to where his remains shall be laid to rest.

Arrangements were started for interment in the free burial ground at Oakwood cemetery, but permission to bury the remains of the murdered negro at that place. One of the officials of Oakwood cemetery when interviewed this morning concerning the refusal to permit the body being buried in the potter's field here replied:

"Take the body back to Compton where it came from."

In the meantime the mortician who had gone to Compton a week ago last Sunday at the order of the Coroner and took charge of the remains, was attempting to find some means of disposing of the body.

Berlin, Nov. 6.—(AP)—The Graf Zeppelin, having completed her visit to the capital, was headed for Friedrichshafen, her home port today. The airship left the Staaken airfield in the suburb at 7:05 a. m. When the airship started she carried, besides her crew and 35 honor guests, ten passengers who paid 1,000 marks (about $240 each) for the trip to Friedrichshafen. Dr. Ekener remained in Berlin for a series of conferences. The airship was in charge of senior officers, Captains Ernst A. Lehmann and Hans C. Flemming.

To Hurry Sale of City Bridge Bonds

At the regular weekly meeting of the city council to be held this evening at 8 o'clock at the city hall, plans will be discussed relative to the disposition of the city's share of the bonds for the construction of the Peoria avenue bridge. With the receipt of the permit from the United States war department yesterday, Mayor Palmer hopes to expedite matters and complete the formal matters entering into the bridge construction program.

The first of these is the sale of the bonds which were voted to cover the city's share of the improvement and several large bond buyers have already sent representatives to Dixon to bid for the bonds. Mayor Palmer stated this morning that he hoped to be able to advertise the bonds that they might be sold November 20th.

The road and bridge committee of the Board of Supervisors will be in session at the court house tomorrow discussing the preliminary plans for the bridge in connection with their regular monthly audit meeting.

Altogether, with independent stations, the National Broadcasting Company expects to have more than 75 stations associated with WEAF and WJZ in the broadcast.

This service is scheduled to start at 7 o'clock and to continue past midnight.

Parliament Opens

London, Nov. 5.—(AP)—The Kellogg-Briand pact renouncing war took precedence today in the address which King George read from the throne in opening Parliament.

The speech was heard by a brilliantly robed assemblage of peers and their bejeweled peeresses with commoners looking on and listening in from their balcony.

"My relations with foreign powers continue to be friendly," the King began in deep clear tones, reading from a scroll. "My government has been happy to accept the treaty of renunciation of war in the form proposed by the government of the United States. To my great satisfaction this treaty was signed in Paris on August 27 by plenipotentiaries on behalf of all my governments and in behalf of the United States, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, Belgium, Poland, and Czechoslovakia."

DR. FRANK CRANE DEAD

The cablegram said Dr. Crane died suddenly last night.

DISORDERS MARK CLOSING DAY OF GREAT CAMPAIGN

Eggs Hurlled to Break up Republican Rallies in South

Chicago, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Chicago, whose grand juries are still probing the mud of last April's primary with its murder, terrorism and fraud, voted today under the protection of 11,000 civilian watchers and the guardian guns of 4,000 policemen and federal agents.

Four hundred government men were added to the protective machinery at the last minute, being concentrated in nine wards where the district attorney's office believed trouble, if any, was most likely to develop. These included the "Bloody Twentieth" where a Negro candidate for committeeman was shot dead primary election day; and the Twenty-Seventh ward, home of Homer Galpin, chairman of the Republican County Committee, who has been sought unsuccessfully for several weeks as a witness before the special grand jury investigating election disorders.

Machine gun squads of detectives patrolled certain south side areas where it was feared the bitterness of the campaign might result in violence.

BROKE UP MEETING

Wichita Falls, Tex., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Election eve brought an attack by foul odor bombs on a final Hoover campaign gathering here which forced about 4,000 persons to abandon the municipal hall last night in the midst of a spirited address by the Rev. J. Frank Norris, Fort Worth Fundamental pastor.

The Baptist pastor finished his address, as did the Rev. H. D. Knickerbocker of Little Rock, Ark., who followed him to the speaker's stand, but a third pastor, the Rev. Paul Henry Packard, a former Christian church minister here, was forced to quit the hall.

The bomb throwers were not apprehended. Local Democratic leaders issued immediate statements deploring the act.

OVERPOWERED POLICE

Worcester, Mass., Nov. 6.—(AP)—An election eve disturbance in which a policeman was beaten senseless, women manhandled and 10,000 marchers in a Republican demonstration showered with eggs, oil, bricks and refuse furnished a spectacular conclusion to the political campaign in this city.

Although warned of impending trouble by reports during the day of an extraordinary demand for eggs, police proved helpless in the face of jeering thousands who assailed the marchers.

Harry Hyde, a patrolman, was knocked unconscious and lost several teeth when he attempted to intervene in a brawling group while Mrs. Lloyd Byrd was taken to the city hospital with a horn shoved down her throat.

Although police reinforcements were rushed to quell the trouble no arrests were possible. Prisoners were torn from the officers by their friends and the police subjected to a severe drubbing.

PREACHER IS EGGED

England, Ark., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Eggs hurled at the Rev. Ben M. Bogard, missionary Baptist preacher, who was speaking against the candidacy of Governor Smith and Senator Robinson last night in the home town of the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, converted an opposing political meeting into a Democratic rally.

Hardly had Bogard begun his address when the eggs appeared from various points in the audience, throwing the audience into an uproar. Bogard was not hit. Many in the audience left, and Democratic speakers later took the platform in behalf of their native son.

EGGED U. S. SENATOR

Anniston, Ala., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Responsibility for the egg shower which descended upon United States Senator J. Thomas Heflin as he was nearing the end of an address in the auditorium of the Anniston high school last night in opposition to the Smith-Robinson presidential ticket had not been determined today by Anniston police.

Senator Heflin was assailed by egg throwers from the audience, and although none of the eggs struck him, some of them splattered so near that his clothing was soiled.

Disorder prevailed in the auditorium when the speaker's remarks were interrupted by the splattering of eggs. The missiles appeared to have been thrown by several people.

Police were summoned to the auditorium and began an investigation, after quieting the disorder within the hall. Senator Heflin continued his address, which lasted only a few minutes after the interruption.

Miss Mary Ryan returned Sunday evening from a visit with friends in Harmon.

Terse Items of News Gathered in Dixon During Day

HUNT STOLEN AUTO
Chief of Police Berlin of Rock Falls was in Dixon this morning investigating a stolen car which was reported to be located near Dixon.

LATHERS TO MEET HERE

Carl Thome, delegate of the local union of Wood, Wire and Metal Lathers, has returned from the state convention, held at Herrin Saturday and Sunday, bringing the news that the 1929 convention has been awarded to Dixon, and will be held here Sunday, Feb. 24.

GEORGIA SHERIFF HERE

Sheriff W. M. Tanner of Coffee County, Douglas, Ga., arrived in the typical attire of the former western peace officer even to the "ten gallon" hat, was in Dixon yesterday for a short time. Sheriff Tanner returned to Douglas last evening with Walter Humiller who is alleged to have stolen a Buick roadster in that city several months ago.

THANKSGIVING SERVICE

The Dixon Ministerial Association at its meeting at the Y. M. C. A. on Monday morning made arrangements for the annual Thanksgiving Day service. This will be held in the Church of the Brethren of which Rev. B. C. Whitmore is the pastor. The Rev. Lloyd W. Walter will be the preacher of the day.

TWO VETERAN VOTERS

C. A. Blake, father of Mrs. W. W. Gilbert, cast his ballot early this morning, voting as he always has, the straight Republican ticket. If Hoover wins, it will be the 13th Republican president Mr. Blake, who is 86, has helped to elect, his first vote having been cast for Lincoln.

Hollis Prescott, veteran Dixontite, goes Mr. Blake one better, in that his first vote was cast for Fremont in 1856, when the Republican candidate was beaten by Buchanan. Mr. Prescott was another "straight Republican" voter today.

HENRY LOTT'S FUNERAL

The funeral of Henry A. Lott, for many years proprietor of a feed shed in this city, will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Staples chapel. The body will be sent to relatives at Gettysburg, Pa., for burial.

The deceased has been employed for a number of years about livery barns in Dixon and was a quaint character. He was not known to have any relatives in this locality. In examining his belongings yesterday friends discovered that he had bank deposits amounting to about $200, and a small box was found to contain 112 silver dollars.

MADE ELECTION BET

Before the close of the week, an unusual sight is to be staged in the downtown business section. One man is going to push a wheelbarrow from Hennepin avenue east to Galena avenue and then south to Second street and west to First street. Another man is going to ride in the wheelbarrow. In the event that Al Smith wins, Ollie Joseph is to be the passenger while Stephen "Dad" Tippet, constable, will furnish the horsepower. If Hoover is the selection for the next president, "Dad" will ride and Ollie Joseph will push. The wager was the outgrowth of a spirited debate in Ollie's repair shop this morning.

Interest Abroad in American Election

London, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Great Britain is watching with keen, although detached interest, the big battle of the ballots across the ocean today. Herbert Hoover has been long known to Englishmen through his wartime activities and Governor Smith has been so continuously and fully described in dispatches that the people talk about the Republican and Democratic candidates with almost the same intimacy with which they discuss Premier Baldwin and former Premier Lloyd George.

The progress of the campaign has been featured in the newspapers almost daily with long cable dispatches accompanied by pictures and occasionally by editorials. This morning's newspapers gave front page prominence to the contest.

Paris, Nov. 6.—(AP)—French newspapers today reflected the intense interest that the American presidential campaign has created in this country. They devoted their front page space between the opening of the French Parliament and the relative chances of Herbert Hoover and Governor Smith.

Berlin, Nov. 6.—(AP)—German interest in the American election is attested by the fact that the government broadcasting service will announce the results of the balloting every half hour, beginning at 1 A. M. tomorrow (7 P. M. Eastern Standard time).

NEWS OF THE CHURCHES

"SHAMS" DENOUNCED

Religious "shams" were strongly denounced in the Monday evening session of the Christian Life Conference, which is being held this week at Bethel United Evangelical Church, corner Galena Avenue and Morgan Street, under the leadership of Rev. Lee Wilfred Ames of the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.

"No one will accept the gospel," said the speaker, "who is not conscious of the need of it. The opening chapters of the book of Romans are devoted to establishing the fact of the universality of sin. It consists in the prevalence of sin. Grace declares that the human race was originated by creative act and possessed the knowledge of God, which it forfeited by rebellion. Man is prone to acknowledge that others are wrong while he wishes to constitute himself an exception. Two such efforts are met and defeated. First, the moralist's claims are rejected—one cannot by judging others escape the judgment of God. Then the religionist's case is heard, represented by the Jews of Paul's day. They possessed many advantages, on account of which they assumed an air of superiority, while at the same time they violated their privileges by disobeying the scriptures. They are illustrative of all who today trust in outward professions in contrast with inward reality. The divine investigation of the sin question disposes of all would-be exemptions and concludes a world of individual need of the gospel of salvation, because in his sight every defense and excuse is found ineffectual and the whole world stands indicted before him. This was the state of affairs in Paul's day. No change has since taken place affecting the situation. Thus it is the exact condition today. Against this dark background the light of the glorious gospel of Christ shines forth."

Tonight Rev. Mr. Ames will continue the unfolding of Romans, under the title "What to Do With a Bad Record." The service opens at 7:30 with a season of song led by J. C. Koller. Local officials promoting the conference are well pleased with its progress, according to Rev. S. B. Quincer, pastor of the church.

OBITUARY

JOSHUA P. HOYLE
(Contributed)

Joshua Palmer Hoyle was born Dec. 4th, 1851 in Somerset, Pa., and died Nov. 2nd, 1924 at his home in Palmyra, aged 72 years, 10 months, and 29 days. He came to Illinois at the age of 12 years, and resided in Lee county the remainder of his life. He was married to Miss Julia Fritz on March 25th, 1873, who preceded him in death 29 years ago. To this union were born seven children, all living except one son Wilson, who died at the age of one year. The following children mourn the loss of a loving father: three daughters, Mrs. Frank Glessner, Mrs. Eford Etnyre and Mrs. Roy Lapham and three sons: Lester, Bert and Fred Hoyle. There are also left to mourn his passing 13 grandchildren, 2 great grandchildren, three sisters, Mrs. Sarah Ringler, Mrs. Alsuma Howard and Mrs. Mabel Shoemaker and two brothers, J. W. Hoyle and Peter Hoyle. Mr. Hoyle was highly esteemed by all who knew him for his upright and honorable character.

Charitable and kindly in his disposition toward others, he spoke kindly of every one. Affectionate and loyal to his family, his memory will ever be revered as that of a most beloved father and brother. Always an indefatigable worker, it was with reluctance that he ceased his active life, even after the infirmities of age overtook him. During the last few years of his life he was stricken with illness and suffering. He was patient and cheerful, thoughtful and considerate of those who cared for him during his illness. Rev. F. Brandt, pastor of the Grace Evangelical Church officiated at the funeral service. Burial took place at the Burket Cemetery.

SWEAR IN VOTES
Urbana, Ill., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Equipped with notary seals instead of riot guns and pens instead of pistols, Urbana police toured the polls today rounding up voters who were unable to register last week, and swearing them in to take their places in what promised to be the largest electoral turnout in history. From 7 a. m. when the polls opened, the booths at every polling place in Champaign and Urbana were filled.

SUNNY WEATHER,
DEEP INTEREST,
BRING OUT VOTE

speeches last night over the radio, the two great figures of the campaign were today just two more voters, exercising the American right of suffrage on a parity with the millions of their fellow-citizens.

Election day also found the two Vice Presidential nominees, returned from their long travels up and down the country, on hand in their home precincts—Senator Robinson at Little Rock, Ark., and Senator Curtis at Topeka, Kans. President Coolidge made a flying trip from Washington to vote at his home in Northampton, Mass.

Prompted by experience, and mindful of the explosive issues which have gone into the making of the campaign, election officials and citizens committees in several states took extraordinary precautions to police the polls. Texas Rangers were sent to preserve the peace in one possible trouble spot near the Mexican border.

In Chicago 15,000 special watchers were detailed to the voting places. Neither national party organization has overlooked the fact that upon the votes cast today depends the political character of the Senate and House with which the new President will have to deal.

Present Status
As it now stands, the Senate is composed of 46 Democrats, 47 Republicans, and one Farmer-Laborite. There are two vacancies. What each party very much desires, of course, is a dependable majority, and neither has it now. Two of the Republicans, Norris of Nebraska and Blaine of Wisconsin, are openly supporting Smith, and there are several others who rate themselves independent of party decisions.

Under the arrangement by which only a part of the Senate membership comes up for election every two years, thirty-four members of that body are to be chosen today. It so happens that most of those who have encountered serious opposition in their campaigns for reelection are Democrats.

Elect Entire House
The entire membership of the House is chosen every even year. In the present house there are 231 Republicans and 193 Democrats, and even though the House Republican organization has its block of independents, the wider margin of safety has made it less easy for Democratic-in-surgent coalitions to succeed than in the Senate. Both Democrats and Republicans are predicting gains in today's election.

The heavy registration this year, believed by political observers to forecast a nation-wide vote of between thirty-five and forty millions, is regarded as certain to slow up the collection of returns. Four years ago, when the vote was twenty-nine millions, the result was known fairly early in the evening.

Count May Be Slow
While in most states the polls close not later than 7 P. M., there are exceptions which would still further delay definite information as to the result if the election turned out too close. The last polling places to close their doors are in Washington, Oregon and the city of San Francisco, where the hour is 8 P. M. Pacific time, or 10 P. M. Central time. The earliest, and consequently the first to be heard from in every election, are in sections of New England.

Just as the radio has played a star role in the campaign, so it will carry the returns tonight to millions more than ever listened in at any previous election. The country will be blanketed by big and little networks crowding the ether with election figures.

BIG VOTE IN MID-WEST
BY C. E. HONCE
Associated Press Central States
News Editor

The meaning of the tremendous registration in the midwest, qualifying nearly as many voters as men, was under-going interpretation today at the ballot box, which will yield the secret of the farm belt's 149 electoral votes and decide nine Senatorial and 127 House races.

With fair weather and moderate temperature prevailing over most of the area early reports indicated that a record breaking registration was being translated into a record breaking vote.

More than 300,000 ballots had been cast in Chicago alone, two and one-half hours after the polls opened and election officials estimated that Chicagoans were continuing to the polls at the rate of 100,000 an hour. Downstate Illinois also was turning out heavily and similar reports of unprecedented voting came from Iowa, Nebraska, Michigan, Indiana, Minnesota, Wisconsin, the Dakotas, Kansas and Ohio.

Women Voted Early
The woman vote in the urban centers was noticeably large in the early hours. Good roads, incident to the unusually warm November weather, brought early balloting in the country areas.

In Nebraska, election commissioners decreed that voters in line at the hour the polls closed would be given an opportunity to vote regardless of the time involved. This was deemed necessary because of the big registration and the length of the ballot.

In 1924 all but 13 Wisconsin electoral votes, which went to LaFollette, were counted in the Coolidge column and while Republicans claimed that their traditional front would be maintained and that Wisconsin would be won back, Democrats contended that their candidates and the issues on which they fought would penetrate the Republican wall.

The increased registration of from 10 to 45 per cent in some states was called an outpouring to register a conviction on the farm problem, which was one of the dominant issues in the middle west.

Conflicting Claims.
Republican spokesmen said the announcement of Herbert Hoover that if elected he would call a special session of Congress to consider the farm problem had brought evidence of a favorable reaction among farm folk. On the other hand, George N. Peek, chairman of the Alfred E. Smith Independent Organizations Committee, and an active worker for the McNary-Haugen bills, declared that "Mr. Hoover's address holds out no new hope for the farmer."

Reports from the Smith independent agricultural leagues indicate a wholesale repudiation of Hoover and his policies by normally Republican farmers," said Mr. Peek.

"Our information indicates that Wisconsin, Missouri and Nebraska are safe for Smith by a considerable margin, that Smith also will carry Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Iowa and Indiana are definitely in the doubtful column." Mr. Peek also saw a "definite possibility that Illinois will and in the Smith column."

Western Republican headquarters at Chicago countered with a statement that "official advices received from state managers in all of the so-called farm belt states leave no question but that Hoover will carry them," including Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota and Nebraska.

Debt is Held Void
Kewanee, Ill., Nov. 6.—(AP)—The million dollar dealings of William McCabe, Fairfield township farmer and speculator, with Riordon, Martin & Co., Chicago, were of a gambling variety and are not collectable debts. This decision of the Master-in-Chancery, LeRoy A. Zearing, pronounced up held Wednesday by Judge Joe A. Davis, Princeton, who has had the case under advisement since the first week in June of this year. His decision ends several years of litigation, but an appeal to a higher court is expected. The Chicago commission house had entered suit in the Circuit Court of Bureau County to foreclose a mortgage due James K. Riordon, trustee, of two promissory notes held by him from William McCabe and his wife representing commission due the firm of Riordon, Martin & Company. The meteoric career of McCabe as a Board of Trade speculator has long been a topic of interest in Bureau county. At the hearing in June it was brought out that his dealings in grain and provisions amounted to $32,146,978.75. With his accounts soaring into the millions, he became a heavy loser during the grain slump of 1920 and became indebted to the commission house.

Urges Support of all Normal Schools

Humboldt, Ill., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Tracing failures in college to poorly equipped teachers in elementary schools, Prof. E. H. Taylor of Charleston State Teachers College urged more general support of the state's normal schools, in an address before the district conference of parent-teacher associations here today.

"Good elementary schools," he said, "are essential not only for the welfare of those who go no further, but also for the success of those who go to high school and college. Most of the failures in high school and many in college are the result of poor elementary school training."

"The greatest need of elementary schools is a supply of adequately trained teachers and a higher standard for teachers. Illinois is among the backward states in this regard."

"We cannot obtain an adequate supply of properly trained teachers without better support of the teachers' colleges. The colleges are now crowded and their enrollments are increasing. They need more buildings, better equipment, and more money for teachers. With the present appropriations it is not possible to pay as good salaries in our teacher colleges as are paid in many high schools."

"The teachers of teachers should be persons of fine character, rare personality and unusual teaching skill. The teachers of the children of Illinois cannot be adequately trained unless the state provides its teachers colleges with facilities of this type."

Prof. Taylor cited Eastern State at Charleston as an example of the poorly upkept teachers colleges. The present library, serving 900 students, has for a reading room a room that seats not more than 65 persons, he said. The gymnasium, which is supposed to give physical training opportunities to the elementary, high schools and the college, has a playing floor less than half the size of the regulation basketball floor.

"This is poor economy for the state," he declared, "and we are asking our friends of public schools to bring these conditions to the attention of the governor and legislature."

LECTION DID NOT STOP
MARATHON DANCE TODAY
Springfield, Nov. 6.—(AP)—A marathon dance failed to stop for election today—and it also failed to stop the marathoners from voting.

A truck was engaged and Ira Shipley of Springfield, one of the dancers who is casting his first presidential vote this year, was driven to the polls with his partner, both dancing atop the wide truck bed to the tunes of an accordion. At the voting booth, Shipley danced in, scratched his ballot, danced out again and resumed the marathon contest.

STOLE AIRPLANE
Lansing, Mich., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Governor Fred W. Green believes he has issued the first request for extradition of an alleged airplane thief. Joseph Martin, charged with stealing a plane near St. Joseph, Mich., loading it onto a truck and taking it to Chicago, has been arrested in Chicago by state police. Governor Green asked the Governor of Illinois to send him back to Michigan to face the charge.

KILLED BY TRAIN
Champaign, Ill., Nov. 6.—(AP)—O. C. Parsons of White Heath was killed last night when his automobile was struck by a Wabash freight train at Mansfield, near here. The car was carried a quarter of a mile.

WOMAN, 102, VOTES
Rock Island, Ill., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Mrs. Sarah Ann Walker, 102, years old cast her straight Republican ballot this morning. She previously voted for Roosevelt, Harding and Coolidge.

Big Radio Bills

New York, Nov. 6.—(AP)—During the last two months the radio bureau of the national committees have sown upon the air political seed that cost more than $1,250,000, and today the candidates will learn who can harvest the crop as votes.

The Democratic National Committee announces that it has spent $900,000 for political radio broadcasting and the Republican National Committee, although saying that no figures are available, reports the spending of "as much as the Democrats."

The radio bill of the minor parties is but a few thousand dollars.

LINDBERGH EMBARRASSED
BY APPLAUSE OF CROWD
St. Louis, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Hatless and visibly embarrassed by the handclapping of a small crowd that awaited his arrival, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh cast his first ballot for a presidential candidate here today.

Col. Lindbergh flew from Mexico to vote, arriving here yesterday. In his brief remarks to a reporter, Col. Lindbergh said he wanted to deny reports that he had shot an antelope while hunting in Mexico. Upon emerging from the election booth he said he had carried out his previously announced intention of voting for Hoover but when he was asked if he had voted a straight ticket he replied, "No, but that's as far as I'd like to go."

ABANDON FLIGHT
Norfolk, Va., Nov. 6.—(AP)—After spending a week at the Hampton Roads naval station vainly awaiting favorable flying conditions along the coast to Bermuda, the Flying Fish today abandoned the Bermuda flight and took off at 11:40 for New York, accompanied by another Ireland amphibian plane. The Flying Fish carried Captain W. N. Lancaster of the British Royal Air Force, as pilot; Captain Harry Lyon of Southern Cross fame, as navigator, and Mrs. Keith Miller, English woman flier.

THIEVES TOOK MAIL SACK
Galesburg, Ill., Nov. 6.—(AP)—A sack of United States mail and merchandise valued at $2,000 was the loot secured by burglars who robbed the postoffice and two general stores at Lynn Center, near here, last night. Contents of the mail sack if any, will not be known until after further investigation, officers said. The general store loot included automobile tires and tubes, knives, guns, blankets and mens and womens clothing.

Mt. Etna Erupting
Catania, Sicily, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Streams of flaming lava rolled down from the crater of Mount Etna today and Mascali, nestled in the vineyards at the foot of the volcano, appeared to be a deserted village. It was estimated that 5,000 persons were homeless, at least temporarily. No loss of life has been reported from anywhere in the vicinity of the mountain.

Died With Secret
New York, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Arnold Rothstein, big time gambler, who had been a prominent figure in the city's night life for many years and whose activities the authorities have investigated on several occasions, died today refusing in accordance with the code of the underworld, to reveal the identity of his slayer.

DAWES AND WIFE VOTE
Chicago, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Vice President Charles G. Dawes and Mrs. Dawes walked to their polling place a short distance from their Evanston home and cast their ballots shortly after 10 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Dawes expected to leave for Washington later in the day to attend the dinner for Cabinet members given by President Coolidge.

Jap Coronation

Tokyo, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Emperor Hirohito arrived at Nagoya at 3:40 p. m. today completing two-thirds of his imperial progress to Kyoto for his enthronement as the 124th imperial ruler of Japan. The main ceremony will be held on Saturday. After resting at the detached palace in Nagoya, the Emperor and Empress Nagako will continue their journey tomorrow.

The Emperor travelled from Tokyo over a railroad line carefully patrolled by police, members of the army reserve, and railway employees.

It was estimated that at least 75,000 men, soldiers, reservists, police and railroad workers, were charged with the duty of making the Emperor's progress safe.

The imperial train consisted of 11 cars. Three of them were state coaches, one for the Emperor, one for the Empress Nagako and one for the Kashikodokoro, ark of the sacred mirror.

The Emperor began his westward progress with the rising of the sun which is the national emblem of his country.

Bugles sounding the imperial salute marked the progress of the ruler who acknowledged the honors with a slight bow.

NURSE IN ACADEMY AT OTTAWA, BURNS TO DEATH
Ottawa, Ill., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Sister Mary Sabastian, nurse at St. Xavier Academy here, was burned to death last night when her habit caught fire while she was heating water for a patient.

The sleeve of her dress was ignited by flames from a gas stove and spread so rapidly that she was burned fatally before aid came to her assistance.

Sister Mary had been a nurse at the Academy for many years. She was 40. Before entering religious work she was Miss Isabelle McVay of Geneseo, Ill.

Turn onto a flour molding board and roll into a rectangular sheet not more than one-half thick. Spread lightly with softened butter, then spread with marmalade and sprinkle with nuts. Roll over and over making a roll about two inches in diameter. Cut in slices three-fourths inch thick. Place cut side down on a well-buttered baking pan and bake 15 minutes in a hot oven.

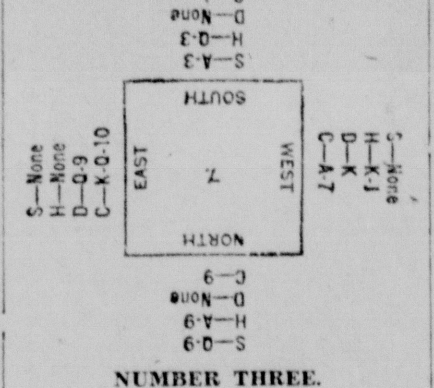

The WOMAN'S DAY by ALLENE SULAND

"Curves," says the papers, "are coming back." The girl who wants to be in style no longer has to take the string bean for the model of her figure. A bit of plumpness won't hurt at all.
That, at least, is what we read. But I imagine the urge to take off weight, which has been upon the women of this land for quite a time now, will continue to operate. However much the papers may print about curves the slender figure will continue to be the goal for a great many.
Under such circumstances, a little warning recently written by Prof. Ivor Griffith chemist, in the current American Druggist magazine, is not amiss.
Prof. Griffith takes a shot at the sellers—and users—of medicines which are guaranteed to reduce one's weight. Most of these medicines contain thyroid extract, on the theory that those of us who are a bit stout got that way because our thyroid glands were subnormal.
Now, says Prof. Griffith, to begin with, it is by no means true that all excess flesh is caused by a subnormal thyroid. And, even if it were, thyroid is altogether too powerful a drug to use without a doctor's direction. Not only may it fail to reduce your weight it may actually turn you into an invalid.
"Thyroid should not be self-administered," he writes. "Even the doctors hesitate to use it simply for reducing physical ponderosity."
Apparently trying to reduce by taking medicines is much like trying to reduce by dieting; a doctor's advice is a pretty good thing to have in either case.
For a good many years (to get away from weight reduction) the chaperone has been a social institution more or less resented by the younger generation. When a chaperone goes on a party, one of two things usually happens: the gaiety is aptly subdued, or the chaperone is hoodwinked and everything goes about as it would have if she were not present at all.
In Chicago, however, there has popped up a chaperone of a new kind. This lady was employed by a wealthy broker as a companion and mentor for his 18-year-old daughter. The daughter fell in love with a $24-a-week clerk. The clerk, as it happened, was woefully bashful; the young heiress was sure that he loved her but he would not speak.
Enter, then, the chaperone. She explained to the young lady that the young swain needed instruction, and she offered to furnish it. It was agreed. The chaperone had three or four dates with the impecunious young clerk, after which she reported to the girl the young man was bashful no longer.
Shades of Mrs. Grundy! you cry, and I quite agree. But listen further.
Properly instructed, the young man avowed his love to the girl. Then the two consulted the chaperone again. This time she helped them elope to Kansas City and got them ready married and established in an apartment there.
That sounds as if it might have

Convention of Illinois League Women Voters

Moline, Ill., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Having arranged their convention dates so that they may talk over the results of the election, members of the Illinois League of Women Voters will hold their state convention here November 12 to 14.
Plans for the reception of the visiting women voters have been completed by the local committee in charge.
While the convention proper does not open until November 13, the state board and league presidents will arrive in Moline on November 12, for a pre-convention discussion of past and future policies. The state board meeting will be followed by a drive arranged by the Moline Association of Commerce, to show the visitors the sights of the Tri-Cities. In the evening the Presidents' Dinner will be held, at which the state board will be guests of honor.
Business sessions will be conducted morning and afternoon Tuesday and Wednesday, and Thursday morning, at which time the organization will discuss its program for the coming year, and votes taken on important matters of policy.
An outstanding topic expected to come before the annual session is the legislative policy of the league, which will be especially pertinent at this time in view of the approaching session of the Illinois general assembly. Awarding of the annual prize to the League Scholar will be an important part of the opening program. On the first day of the convention, examination to determine the best scholar will be held and the prize awarded.
The annual banquet of the women voters will be held November 13, with Charles P. Taft, Jr., of Cincinnati the principal speaker. His announced topic is "The New Political Conscience."
Other speakers and their topics will be announced at a later date.

BRIDGE PUZZLE

NUMBER THREE

Diamonds are trumps and South has the lead. North and South must win all five tricks against a perfect defense.
Lay out the cards on a table as shown in the diagram. Study out each hand and figure out how you would solve this problem. Then look at the solution and see if you have done it right. There is only one way in which North and South can get all five tricks. Can you find it?

THE SOLUTION

This problem requires a rather clever unblocking play for a correct solution.
South leads the queen of clubs, and North plays the seven. South next leads a heart, which North trumps with the four. North now leads the ace of trumps, and South discards his last losing heart. Now North leads the deuce of clubs, and South, with the jack and the five, finesse through East's nine and four.
The solution to this hand depends entirely upon North's unblocking of the club suit at the first trick. If North had played the deuce instead of the seven, East would defeat the problem by playing a low club on the fourth trick. South would then have been compelled to overtake the seven with the jack and lead the five to East's nine. Or, if South had failed to overtake, West's ace of spades would have taken the final trick.
College and the Home." This distinguished man will give the club a most delightful afternoon.

Wedding Was An Event of October 20

A very pretty wedding of interest to Dixon and Sterling friends was solemnized in Chicago Saturday, Oct. 20, at 9:30 a. m., which united the lives of Miss Bernice C. Mangan and Thomas P. Conlon. The ceremony took place at high mass in St. Theodore's Catholic church, the Rev. Fr. Nolan officiating. Attending the couple were Miss Helen Foley and Luke Burns, and Miss Margaret Costello and James Mangan. The ushers were James E. Conlon and Franklin H. Carrington.
The bride's gown was ivory satin and she wore a full length tulle veil. Miss Foley was attired in a light green satin frock and Miss Costello was gowned in orchid satin. Both bridesmaids wore hats and accessories en costume.
After the ceremony a wedding breakfast and reception were given at the Hotel Widmere East, to fifty relatives and friends of the couple. An orchestra furnished music. Late in the morning the bridal pair left on a motor tour through the eastern states.
The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Mangan of Chicago, and has held a responsible position with the Illinois Bell Telephone Co. The groom's parents are the late Mr. and Mrs. James E. Conlon, who were long residents of Sterling before moving to Chicago. He attended school in Sterling and has many warm friends there, and in Dixon who will wish him and his bride happiness.
After returning home from the east, Mr. and Mrs. Conlon will reside at 6126 South Wood street, Chicago.

Queen Mary Were Most Famous Jewel

London, Nov. 6.—(AP)—The state opening of Parliament today by King George with Queen Mary by his side wearing the Cullinan diamond, the largest in the world and estimated to be worth up to $25,000,000, has revived the speculation over what became of the "other half" of the great stone.
When the Cullinan diamond was dug from the earth at the premier mines at Cullinan, South Africa, in 1905 it was found that one side was so flat and smooth that it was considered to be only part of a much bigger diamond. The enormous half, brother, miners, financiers, geologists, and thieves have been searching for 23 years. Its whereabouts and of life on a silver platter. They have always been overdressed, overfed, overindulged, and waited on by their patient but mistaken parents to the point of martyrdom. Yet a more dissatisfied, pouty bunch of youngsters I have seldom seen.
That is a dreadful tangle for life to get us into. To be unhappy with what we have and to be more unhappy without it.
Another thing—as indulged children get older, their demands increase. Their taste in toys will be their taste in cars, in trips, and week-ends, and fur coats and all sorts of extravaganzas. And with it all they won't be happy.
The thirst for thrills is only an aftermath of indulgence in childhood. It isn't the happy young people that go on madcap chases as a rule, but the unhappy ones, forever hunting the chimera that always seems just around the corner.
It's a great mistake to give children too many things, no matter how much money there happens to be in the family. And it is a mistake to plan too much for them. Let them have the thrill and effort of doing their own planning, at least part of the time. If you don't, they will develop an inertia that is deadly.
All children should dress simply, live simply and be kept busy. They need not be given new toys constantly. Their thrills should be few and far between.
America has a peculiar habit of boiling up from the bottom. It is safe to say that a large proportion of our leading citizens in 1950 will be from the children who today are learning to depend on themselves, to think for themselves, wait on themselves, and act for themselves. I wonder how many of today's satiated children, victims of their own inertia and boredom, will have places in the sun then.

Enjoyable Meeting of Men's Bible Class

The Men's Bible Class of the Grace Evangelical church met at the home of Rev. F. Brandtner last evening. The meeting was in charge of the vice president, Ray Strook. A vocal trio by Rev. and Mrs. Brandtner and their daughter Helen entitled "Beautiful Story of Love", was appreciated and encored with a number by Reverend and Mrs. Brandtner. Lois Brandtner was the piano accompanist. Prayer was offered by the pastor followed by a very interesting talk on the "Temperance Movement" in our country by Fred Krahler. A number of questions were fully discussed. Refreshments were served by the host. Twenty-eight men were present.
RETURN FROM TRIP TO NEBRASKA
Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wilson, Mrs. Dennis Harden, and Mrs. P. A. Covert have returned from a ten day automobile trip to Nebraska, including visits at Omaha, Lincoln, York and Benedict. They had a most delightful time and enjoyed visits with friends and relatives very much. Their return trip to Dixon took three days because of the weather. Between Lincoln and York they encountered a terrific blizzard and on Friday and Saturday traveled through snow. When they arrived at Clinton, Ia., and Sterling, Ill., last evening they were happy to find they were so nearly home. Some days in Nebraska were almost like today, bright and sunny.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wirth Were Honored

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Heckman delightfully entertained last evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wirth, who are leaving tomorrow for California where they will make their future home. There were thirty five guests in attendance, and music and games occupied the happy hours. A delicious picnic supper was a feature of the enjoyable affair.
As a token of affection and esteem, the friends present made Mr. and Mrs. Wirth the gift of a handsome carving set with their best wishes. The set was presented by Mrs. Heckman to Mr. and Mrs. Wirth in behalf of all in attendance. All wished Mr. and Mrs. Wirth a safe journey and while regretting their departure, hope they will be happy in their home in sunny California.

POINTERS FOR PARENTS

How often do we hear parents say, "Our children are so discontented, always wanting something they don't have. We're doing everything in our power to make them happy but it seems they are never satisfied."
Perhaps they may be doing too much.
Just as hunger is the best sauce, a little wanting is likely to give the greatest zest to a present or a party or a new dress or a movie.
The children who are satiated with gifts are seldom happy. Yet take a child who never possesses a new toy from one month's end to the other and watch his eyes shine if he is given a ten-cent ball or a horn or a whistle.
I know a family of children who have been handed the good things

THE BRAVE OLD OAK

Alfred B. Street
song to the oak, the brave old oak.
Who hath ruled in the green-wood long.
Here's health and renown to his broad green crown.
And his fifty arms so strong.
There's fear in his frown when the sun goes down.
And the fire in the west fades out; And he showeth his might on a wild midnight.
When the storms through his branches shout.
Then here's to the oak, the brave old oak.
Who stands in his pride alone; And still flourish he, a hale grown tree.
When a hundred years are gone!
In the days of old, when the spring with cold
Had brightened his branches gray. Through the grass at his feet crept maidens sweet.
To gather the dew of May. The waterfall's bound fills the scene all around
With its blending, exulting refrain.
In its crannies the hair-stemmed columbine nods.
The fern in its sprinkles drips; And the little black dipper all over the bridge
Of the spanning pine-tree skips; And the bubbles they toss on the golden gloss
Of the dashing and flashing pool; Where the angler scoops up his wreathed hoppel-leaf cup.
And the trout poises deep in the cool.

HEMS OUT OF DATE FOR SPORT CLOTHES

Paris.—(AP)—There are no hems to let out on the newest sport clothes. Hems are out of favor and in their stead Paris uses row on row of machine stitching to finish wool sport clothes. The same method is used for cuffs and collars at some of the leading houses of sports apparel.
Tweeds are the cause of the change. They do not hang well, dressmakers say, when finished with hems which have to be put in on the bias, since most of the current season's sport skirts are more or less circular.

WATERPROOF VELVET WET WEATHER STYLE

Paris.—(AP)—Rainproof cotton velvet, plain and printed is extensively used for storm coats, made in colors and leather shades.
Colored leather with linings of printed velvet is also in favor for motor and stormy weather coats. With such coats go handbags and storm hats of printed velvet to match the coat lining.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY TO MEET THURSDAY

OUTDOING BOSS TWEED.

The story of Boss Tweed, who looted New York City a generation ago of nobody knows how many millions of dollars, is one of the most interesting stories in the history of American cities.

Tweed's insolent, "Well, what are you going to do about it?" when confronted with proofs of his thieving is a classic. When we read his story, we comfort ourselves with the thought that our municipal governments have at least progressed to a point where nothing quite so bare-faced and arrogant as a Tweed ring is ever possible again.

But we're just kidding ourselves. Tweed was only a piker. The behind-the-scenes high-binders of Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit and Cleveland would consider him a weakling. They are getting more money from honest folk than Tweed ever got; their defiance of the law is more arrogant and coarser than Tweed's ever was; and their immunity to prosecution by the officers of the law seems to be even greater than Tweed's.

Tweed's dominance over New York was, after all, an affair that could be remedied without too much trouble. It was comparatively easy to arouse the indignation of the citizenry, and a shower of ballots soon ended Tweed's reign. But the modern racketeer's grip on our cities is something that will be a whole lot harder to shake.

To begin with, it is harder to shock us than it used to be. Prosperity has dulled the edge of our civic conscience. We have grown pretty cynical about official nonfeasance and graft. We take it for granted that there will be shady dealings behind the city hall and the courthouse. "Turn the rascals out" is no longer an effective war cry.

And, in the second place, the modern racketeer is no pacifist. He is daring and desperate. Given a minimum of official eye-shutting and he will work his machine guns and bombs at all hours. Tweed employed a certain amount of finesse; the racketeer simply says "gimme!" over the muzzle of a revolver. Fear is his most powerful asset.

The racketeer gets his chief support, however, from public indifference. We take the underworld too much as a matter of course. We have not yet realized that our cities cannot continue to exist half civilized and half jungle. The stratum composed of beer runners, hijackers, gambling "kings," fixers, politico-criminal go betweens and gunmen is more than a disquieting, scandalous phenomenon; it represents a force that must be got under control before it wrecks us. Unless we wake up, and do so pretty speedily, we are due for a condition not so very far removed from actual anarchy.

Boss Tweed was a bad one, to be sure. But he wasn't half so baneful an influence on the life of his time as are the modern racketeer and his satellites.

BY BENEFIT OF INVASION.

For quite a few years now American marines and naval forces have been in charge of affairs in Haiti.

A good many people have felt that this was not right, and the United States has been accused of seizing the island without regard for the feelings of its inhabitants. Native leaders who have protested have gone to jail; it is possible, reading the record, to work up quite a bit of sympathy for the oppressed Haitians.

But there's another side to it. A writer in the current Review of Reviews points out that the medical staff of our navy has been extremely active in Haiti. In 1915 nearly half of the country's population of 2,000,000 suffered from some form of tropical or social diseases. Today the percentage of victims is inconsiderable. Health stations and clinics have been established throughout the island. Disease is being conquered.

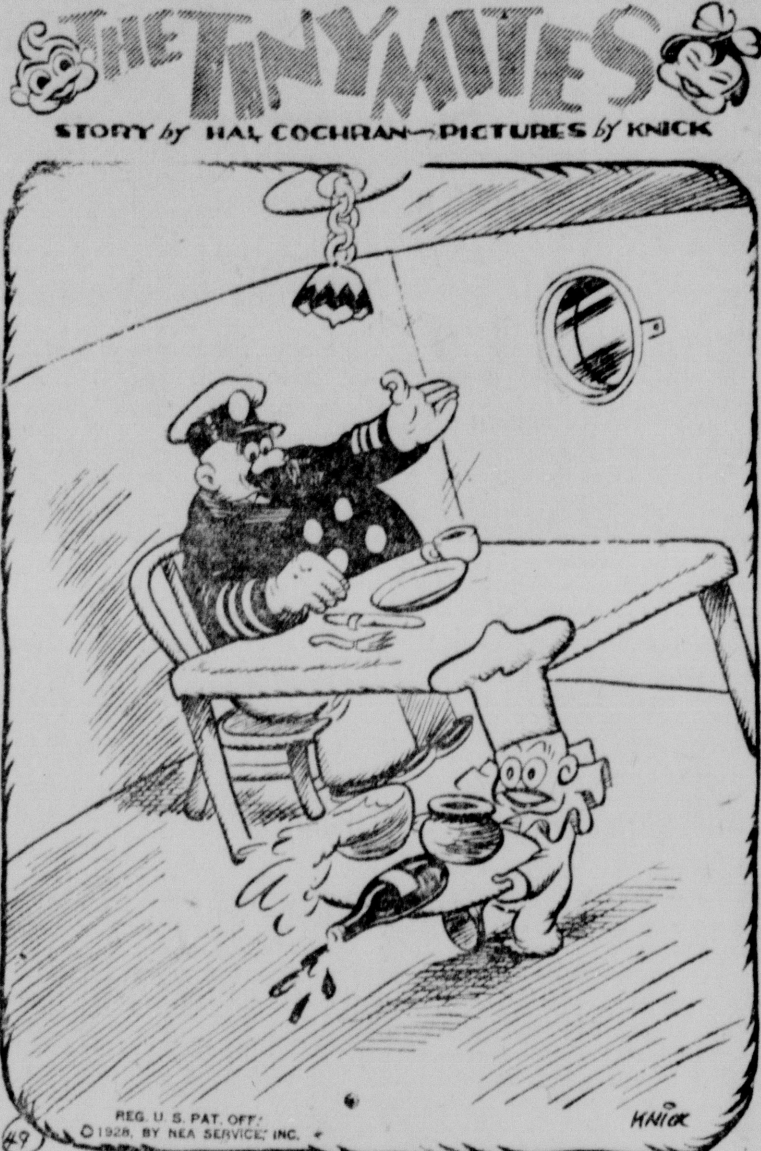

When you're pitying the Haitians, don't forget that point.

How like a flower the ladies are these days! When they fade they dye!

Among certain Indian tribes it is regarded as improper for a woman to speak to her daughter's husband. And they call these savages wild!

Recent tests by the British War Department show that the tank is obsolete. We still have a few nightclubs here and there in America, however.

Ladies used to leave the gentlemen after dinner to tell their stories and smoke their cigars. Now they have the gentlemen after dinner to tell their stories and smoke their cigars.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Tinymites, high on the mast, all wondered, while the time flew past, how soon they'd be discovered. "Ho! Ho! You thought I wouldn't find you," he exclaimed. "Well, we by the captain down below. They felt that he would look around until the Tinymites were found. Then, what would happen to them all, of course they didn't know."

Said Coppy, "Well, we all can rest away up in this queer crowd's nest. That's what they call this place we're in. My, what a funny name." Just then the captain shouted, loud, "Hey! Way up there! You Tiny crowd had better come down here on deck. Just what is this, a game?"

"Whoops! We're discovered!" Clowzy said. "Oh, my, oh, my, I really dread to climb down to the deck again. I wonder what's in store. The captain sure will start a fuss, if he is still real mad at us." But Scouty snapped, "Oh, let's go down ere he begins to roar." So, down they started, very slow.

A GARDENER

She kissed the flowers and added beauty, though there was much beauty there; She touched the green of leafy forest and it changed to red and gold; Just one look into the heavens and a brighter azure fair, Reflected full her beauty and her sweetness manifold.

She gazed into the fountain deep and diamonds shown around; She breathed the moonlight and the stars above threw kisses down to her; She wooed the birds and talked to beasts that gambled o'er the ground. Where'er she trod she seemed to be a Heavenly gardener.

DIXON PIONEER IS SUBJECT SKETCH IN HISTORIC JOURNAL

Alexander Charters' Estate Here Visited by Notables

The Journal of the Illinois State Historical Society in its latest issue published the following concerning Alexander Charters, a pioneer of Dixon, written by Blanche S. Charters:

Alexander Charters, travelling through the West with a party of gentlemen in the year 1837—the year of Queen Victoria's accession to the throne of England—was so charmed with the then village of Dixon, that he purchased the handsome estate on the bluffs of Rock River which he named Hazelwood, where he lived the like of a country gentleman for more than forty years.

His title, "The Governor" was purely honorary, being accorded him by his countless friends and admirers, in sincere and loyal tribute to his great geniality, and his almost unstinted hospitality. Everyone who came to Dixon in those years was his guest, and the saying passed current that "after one crossed the bridge all roads lead to Hazelwood."

The Visitor's Book at Hazelwood held such distinguished names as: Adeline Patti, on her first concert tour; Ole Bull, the violinist; Margaret Fuller, Countess Ossoli, William Cullen Bryant, whose poem, "The Forest Hymn" was inspired by the magnificent old trees of Hazelwood. The visit of Artemus Ward was a memorable occasion, a host of The Governor's Dixon friends being invited to Hazelwood to meet him.

Judge Charters, cultured and elegant, the only son of The Governor, and having just completed his study of the Law in "The Court of the Inner Temple" in London, arrived at Hazelwood in 1852, spending several years there, later residing in a delightful home on the borders of Rock River in Dixon.

And it was in this delightful spot that Madame Galli Curci, attracted by the spring-time perfume of lilacs in profusion—her favorite flower—wandered in admiration and delight, wishing that she might long linger here. And here, also, in earlier years, Abraham Lincoln was entertained, passing through Dixon on his way from Springfield to Freeport for the celebrated Lincoln-Douglas debate.

There still hangs on the wall at Hazelwood, a draft of the franchise of the Illinois Central Railway, which at the very urgent request of Governor Charters, passed through the Hazelwood Estate.

Governor Charters was born on the even century, 1800, and died in 1878. And the entire community as they had been his guests for so many years—and indeed the whole country—now became his mourners. Special trains on the Illinois Central brought them to Hazelwood. The eulogy was pronounced by The Governor's long-time friend, and the genial and hospitable host of Hazelwood was laid to rest in the family cemetery on the Hazelwood Estate, located on Mount Kennedy, a beautiful rise of ground overlooking the river in a broad and sweeping view. And to this day the memory of his spirit, so kindly and so generous, still pervades the domain of Hazelwood, and still lives in the hearts of the many friends and admirers of "The Governor."

QUIET DAY FOR HOOVER
BY JAMES L. WEST
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Palo Alto, Cal., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover today became a mere private in the greatest army of Americans that ever went to the polls to vote in a national election. The Republican Presidential candidate had travelled 3,000 miles across the continent to cast his ballot. His voting place was precinct number two on the campus of Stanford University, where he had worked as a youth to gain an education. With his own were to be cast 122 ballots of four other members of his family, those of Mrs. Hoover and his two sons, Allan and Herbert, Jr., and Mrs. Herbert Hoover, Jr.

In the group was one of the million of first voters whom the nominee, in the course of the campaign, has welcomed into an active participation into the political affairs of the nation. This was Allan Hoover, who attained his majority only last August.

After voting, the Hoovers planned to spend the remainder of the day quietly at their home at San Juan Hill, and there receive the returns both by radio and special wires of press associations.

May Know Tonight

Because of the difference in time between the west and the east, first results of the election will begin reaching the 'Republican standard bearer in mid-afternoon, and before midnight, Pacific coast time, he expects to learn whether he is to head a new Republican administration in the control of the federal government.

The transcontinental swing concluded yesterday with a boisterous homecoming welcome to the familiar scenes of the Stanford Campus. Hoover last night sounded the last note in his campaign in an appeal to the electorate over the radio to march in full strength to the polls and disregard sectional lines in making their decision.

His Final Plea.
"There ought no longer to be any north, south, east or west in our national thought," he said. "Our ideals as Americans have been moulded and welded under leadership of men and women of every section of the country. The greatest progress can come in the advancement of our institutions, our ideas and our ideals by the common contribution of every section."

Urging also that the people make an independent determination of their conclusions on the issues of the campaign, Hoover said: "Democracy can not survive if the ballot is to be cast upon somebody's order or direction. Democracy in such a state would become the destroyer of liberty and not its guarantee."

Immediately after he concluded his final talk of the campaign, the radio brought him the last word of his Democratic opponent which also was carried over a nationwide hook-up of stations.

MRS. SMITH'S BIRTHDAY.
New York, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Governor Alfred E. Smith hopes the voters will make his wife first lady of the land as a birthday gift.

Today is Mrs. Smith's birthday and the only other time during their marriage that election day fell on November 6 was ten years ago when her husband was first elected Governor of New York.

The election of her husband to the presidency today, said Mrs. Smith, was the only thing she wanted. "And," she added, "I'm going to get it, too."

Satisfied with the campaign he has made, Governor Smith awaited the verdict of the nation confident that he and his running mate, Senator Joe T. Robinson, would "go together to victory."

The Governor and his wife decided to vote at noon. They had to go to a stationery store in Forty-eight Street, near Madison Avenue, the polling place for the precinct in which the Hotel Biltmore, their city residence, is located. Other members of their family live in various parts of the city.

In the evening the Governor will hear the returns at the National Democratic headquarters in the General Motors Building on Broadway and later at the Biltmore.

Had Busy Day.
The final day of the campaign was a busy one for the Democratic nominee. Shortly after noon he broadcast a final plea to the farmers of the mid-west; later he met newspapermen and told them he felt "all right" about the outcome and in the evening he summed up his campaign in a radio address.

In his final talk to the voters, delivered in the broadcasting room at Carnegie Hall but relayed over ninety radio stations, Governor Smith assured him his hands were united and free.

"I have made no promises to any man or any group of men," he said. "Nobody was authorized to make any promises for me and, in fact, none has been made. I can enter upon the duties of the greatest office in the world without commitment to anybody except the American people."

The Governor reviewed his administration of the affairs of New York state and said he was willing to stand on that record.

He asserted it "the duty of every American citizen, man or woman, to vote according to the dictates of conscience, solely upon the basis of what he or she believes to be the best interest of the country itself and not upon the basis of any passion or any prejudice."

He thanked the voters for the receptions accorded him in the many cities he visited and expressed regret he had been unable to visit every state in the union.

CURTIS GETS ON JOB
Topeka, Kansas, Nov. 6.—(AP)—The habit of a political lifetime unbroken at the end of his greatest campaign, Senator Charles Curtis was ready today to turn immediately from the current election to his neglected Senatorial duties.

Closing his campaign last night in the City Auditorium before his home town people, a custom of the past 33 years, the Republican Vice-Presidential nominee retired early, as is his habit, to rest for his full day ahead.

He expected to be among the first to vote, shortly after 8 a. m., in his home precinct. After a few hours work in his office, and a brief rest at his home the candidate proposes to leave his home town about 6 p. m., even before the polls close, to hurry back to Washington to dig into neglected Senatorial work.

Although railroad officials have planned to convey election news to him on his overnight trip to Chicago, the Senator said he would retire early tonight, and was not to be awakened to hear late bulletins.

ROBINSON CONFIDENT

Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Senator Joe T. Robinson rested at his home here today, planning but one formal activity—the casting of his ballot at a neighboring drug store.

The Vice Presidential nominee said he was confident of victory for the Democratic party. He planned, with Mrs. Robinson, to receive the returns by radio in his home tonight.

Last night he closed his campaign with an address delivered at a homecoming celebration, signalling the end of a tour of thirty states, one of the longest a candidate for Vice-President has undertaken.

Riding with Mrs. Robinson at the head of a torch light parade he received the cheers of Little Rock's thousands. Behind him in the parade rode six former Governors of Arkansas and hundreds of political leaders and well-wishers from over the state.

OBITUARY

ANN MCGUFFIN CANFIELD

(Contributed)

Ann McGuffin, daughter of John and Margaret Howard McGuffin was born July 28, 1832, near London, Canada. She was one of a family of twelve children, only two of whom survive: Mrs. Mary Haney Steffa of Oregon and Mrs. Frances Robinson of Los Angeles, Calif. She was a sister of Mrs. Helen Frank and Samuel McGuffin, late of Oregon.

In 1843, she came with her parents to the home they had purchased near Byron, coming overland by wagons, the journey requiring six weeks. She lived there until she grew to young womanhood, receiving her education at the Select School, later known as the Byron Seminary. She began teaching at the age of sixteen, teaching near Byron, at Daysville, the Canfield School and a year in Canada.

Following her work in Canada, she returned to Illinois and on Feb. 21, 1856, was married to Benjamin A. Canfield of Pine Rock, who with his parents, came from New York by wagon in 1846. The marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. Henry Marten, and he, with the pastors who followed him on the charge, ever found a welcome and a haven of rest in the new home. So ideal was the Christian character of the home that the minister's room was christened "The Prophet's Chamber" by the Rev. Barton Cartwright. Her husband died on Feb. 14, 1874, leaving to her the upbringing of the family of six children, three others having died in infancy. One daughter, Mrs. Sarah Mills of Byron, died Aug. 8, 1927.

There remain to mourn her passing: Mrs. Imogene Spivey of Jamesport, Missouri; Mrs. Rose Ling, of Franklin Grove; Mrs. May Cleaver.

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE. Estate of Catherine Graff, deceased. The undersigned, having been appointed Executor of the Estate of Catherine Graff, deceased hereby gives notice that he will appear before the County Court of Lee County, at the Court House in Dixon, at the January term, on which time all persons having claims against said estate are notified to attend for the purpose of having the same adjusted.

All persons indebted to said estate are requested to make immediate payment to the undersigned. Dated this 6th day of November, A. D. 1928. JOHN J. ARMSTRONG, Executor. Nov 6, 13, 20 of Taylor Township; Mr. John B. and Miss Blanche Canfield who lived with her in the old home near Chana; also twelve grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

She was an ever helpful, kind neighbor, a delightful, true, loyal friend, a woman of pure thoughts and high ideals, a splendid type of Christian character who had much faith to believe the promises of the Good Book and had the love, courage and charity to live as she believed. The nicest testimony of her Christian character is the kind of lives the children she raised and educated have always lived. She was not only one of the founders of the Methodist Church in Chana, but a consistent, always interested attendant, as well as one of the most liberal and financial supporters. Truly, a patient, guiding, loving Christian mother gone home.

The funeral services were held at the family residence on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by a former pastor, Rev. Royston of La Moille and assisted by Rev. Frank Sheets of Oregon. Interment was made at Chapel Hill Cemetery.

MRS. F. H. CARRIEL

The current issue of the Journal of the Illinois State Historical Society contained the following concerning the death of Mrs. F. H. Carriel, a resident of Dixon who was managing officer of the Dixon State Hospital:

The Historical Society and the State of Illinois lost a most distinguished member and citizen in the death of Mrs. Mary Turner Carriel on June 10, 1928. Mrs. Carriel was for many years an interested and active member of both the State and the Morgan County Historical Society. This could hardly have been otherwise as she was herself identified with some of the important events in the early history of Illinois. Born October 30, 1845, in Jacksonville, the daughter of Jonathan Baldwin Turner and Rudolph Kibbe, she grew up with one of the most cultural groups of the early pioneers of Illinois. Her parents were from New England, called to the Prairie Country by their zeal to bring education and religion to the West. Her father, one of the original faculty of Illinois College, was one of the most virile and versatile of that group of college teachers.

Mrs. Carriel was graduated in 1864 from the Jacksonville Female Academy, the first higher school for women in the State and now a part of Illinois College. In 1875 she married a physician, Dr. F. H. Carriel, who served the State for many years with distinguished ability as Superintendent of the State Hospital for the Insane at Jacksonville. All through her married life, Dr. and Mrs. Carriel were honored leaders in the life of the community. Children came to them—three sons, Howard, Arthur and Fred Clifford, and one daughter, Mrs. Ella Carriel Roberts, in addition to the step-sons whom she included in her affections. She gave to her family the best that was hers to give, but this devotion did not limit her other interests.

She was elected in 1896 to the Board of Trustees of the University of Illinois, serving one term—the first woman ever elected to that board. Her father, Professor Turner, had originated the movement which led to the establishment of the Federal Land Grant Universities of the United States, and it was natural for Mrs. Carriel, therefore, to take a keen interest in the work of the State University. She rendered especially valuable service on the board in connection with the College of Agriculture.

One cannot judge by the mere list of her memberships in various organizations of the breadth of her mind and culture. She held for many years of her life a unique leadership in many movements for the welfare of her community. A charter member of State Street Presbyterian Church, president of the Service Star Legion, president of the Alumnae Association of the Jacksonville Female Academy, president of the Art Association, and active member of Sorosis Society, she kept her membership in all of these organizations an active one, asking no favors because of her age but adequate always to the intellectual demands upon her. In 1927, during the celebration of the Centenary of Jacksonville, she was chosen as the "Queen Mother" of the Centennial.

Perhaps the monument of which she herself would be most proud was her "The Life of Jonathan Baldwin Turner," published in 1911. It was a labor of love, and at the same time a valuable historical document. Mrs. Carriel possessed not only real strength of character but also charm of personality. She was a woman of great personal beauty and dignity. With her interesting combination of cultural training and democratic instincts, she won the admiration of the whole community.

After a happy winter in which she was able to attend the many meetings of church and clubs, she set off for a visit to California, where two of her sons reside. She was with them for some weeks before her last short illness. The news of her death came in the midst of the Commencement Season at the College which she and her father had loved so long. College and town bowed in sorrow at the loss of one whom both had long held it an honor to call their own.

RUTH DEWEY GROVES

AUTHOR OF "WHEN A GIRL LOVES" "LOVE FOR TWO"

THIS HAS HAPPENED

JERRY RAY thinks love is a delusion and decides to marry for money. Her vacation plans are spoiled by the loss of her savings, and nothing remains but to go camping with her roommate MYRTLE. Fate soon introduces her to ALLESTER CARSTAIRS when he crashes his airplane into their camp. Her heart responds to DAN HARVEY, his pilot, but Allester is struck by her beauty and showers attentions upon her. A letter from her mother revealing poverty and illness strengthens Jerry's determination to try to marry wealth.

Unable to buy a new gown for the big party Allester has invited her to Jerry yields to the temptation to take one from the store—intending to slip it back next morning. At the party the dress is ruined.

Jerry is in a panic when she realizes her predicament. She confesses to the manager, who discharges her. She seeks another job, and is surprised one evening when Dan calls on her. He takes her driving and proposes to her. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIX

JERRY was amazed at her own feelings. She wanted, rashly and without thought of consequence to throw herself into Dan's arms and cling to him forever. In a moment they would say good-by at her door. She couldn't bear that, knowing he was never coming back again.

She closed her eyes while the swift surge of emotional abandonment coursed through her being. It couldn't be, her brain signaled to pounding heart and tingling nerves. She mustn't touch him. This was only a passing fear—something that she would get over soon.

She'd never been indifferent to partings of a final nature. People had sometimes thought her callous and cold because she preferred to avoid tender scenes. She didn't like to say good-by to anyone who was at all dear to her. . . . That was it, she liked Dan Harvey. He'd never been more than she wanted to, but it couldn't be love. It couldn't be love because he hadn't made her forget all the world for him.

Hadn't she heard a line about the world being well lost for love? Well, she didn't feel that way about Dan Harvey. She could see a background behind his proposal. Girls in love didn't see beyond the ecstasy of their lovers' kisses, she remembered.

Dan had kissed her, and she had thought of the danger his love was to her ambition.

She opened her eyes, the impulse to surrender vanquished. Dan helped her out to the sidewalk and she ran on ahead of him up to the old store. He did not follow immediately.

SHE turned, with her hand on the doorknob. She hoped he couldn't see that her eyes were filled with tears.

"Good-by," she called, and turned the knob. The door was locked. She had hoped this would be one of those times when it wasn't. She lost time in fumbling in her bag for the key.

Dan was beside her before she found it. He took it and let his fingers linger on hers. And he saw the tears in her eyes. But he thought them tears of anger or humiliation. She was a proud little beggar, he told himself. He must have gone pretty deep when he intimated that Allester Carstairs wouldn't stoop to her level for a wife.

Allester would call it stooping. He amended. To him Jerry was the highest-placed girl in the world. He had a mental feeling of looking upward whenever he thought of her, except when he remembered her avowed intention to marry money; then he felt like using a slipper on her.

Allester telephoned her the next day to say he was coming over.

"You can't wish me out of your life, Jerry," he said throatily. "You will save a lot of hard feeling if you don't try it."

"When I need you I'll let you know," Jerry flashed at him, but Dan refused to take it as sarcastically as she meant it.

"I'll consider that a promise," he said. "And if you keep it I'll expect to see you soon. Good night," he added, handing her the key.

He did not wait for another word from Jerry. In fact she uttered none but passed through the door as he unlocked and thrown open with a haste that bespoke immediate need of some place to cry her heart out.

When Myrtle came in she was washing her hair, having had to heat the water for her shampoo on the gas plate. That supplied by the heater in the basement had long since grown cold, or been used by the other tenants.

"Well, for Pete's sake, what have you been doing?" Myrtle exclaimed in astonishment. "Why didn't you wait until morning? Forget it's Sunday?"

Jerry was compelled to lie with her hair spread out on a bath towel laid over the pillow to let it dry while she tried to go to sleep. Myrtle had grumbled about having the light turned on. . . .

JERRY wished she had a room of her own. Myrtle was all right to live with. She'd heard girls in the store talk about roommates who wore their things without permission, used their cosmetics lavishly and even read their mail. Myrtle did none of these things. But Jerry had been used to privacy; that much refinement at least she had had at home.

Myrtle was a restless sleeper. She stayed out too much at night. She danced too much, relaxed too little. Jerry told her she wondered she didn't dream of dragons and puppy dogs' tails from eating so often in Chinese restaurants.

But their room rent was $12 a week. Twelve dollars a week! They could rent a swell house in Marblehead for that much money. She couldn't think of paying $12 a week all by herself. She could get a hall bedroom—there had been a vacancy on both the second and third floors since they moved into the house, but she couldn't move into another room and let Myrtle shift for herself.

It had been Myrtle who had come to her rescue when she first obtained a job at Pan's. Her rent then was taking far more of her meager funds than she could afford. Myrtle had suggested teaming up on a room and Jerry, in her inexperience, had been glad to accept. She had since learned about the hall rooms and their very, very limited space, but priceless privacy.

Myrtle grunted in her sleep. Jerry shuddered but in the next instant she had reached out and touched her friend lightly on the cheek. She felt ashamed of her critical attitude. Myrtle was a real friend—they didn't always agree, but Myrtle had proved that she would stick in a pinch.

BUT it didn't seem fair that some people had to live in wretched, crowded discomfort while others . . . she thought of Leontine's boudoir. A place of silken paneled walls and gold brocade of mauve velvet on the floor and exquisite lace at the windows. "She took them," Jerry assured herself. "I don't know how, but I'm sure she wasn't born with a gold spoon in her mouth. Maybe she'd be living like I am if she'd been content to do it."

Myrtle moved in her sleep, flung an arm restlessly out across the pillow. Poor Myrtle. She thought this was a good enough room. She was content to be poor.

"Well, I'll not," Jerry thought impatiently. "I'll take what I want."

THIS thought was still in her mind when Allester telephoned her the next day about six to say he was coming over. His voice sounded a bit gruff, as though he were out of patience with someone or something.

Jerry soon found out why when she was in the black roadster, headed for Long Island.

"I wasn't going to come near you again," Allester informed her. "I don't like your lack of sportsmanship."

"That made Jerry pretty angry. 'What do you mean by that remark?'" she demanded.

"I mean the way you ran out on me last night just because the crowd tried to have a little fun with you."

"Then you made a mistake in coming back," Jerry declared warmly. "Because I know when I've had enough. Did you think I was going to stay out all night in a wet dress?"

"I could have fixed you up. I told you that."

SON OF FORMER DIXONITES DIED IN ROCK ISLAND

Arthur Shetter Passed Away Suddenly After an Operation

The following clipping from the Rock Island Argus will be of interest to many Dixon people who were well acquainted with Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Shetter, former residents of this city, whose son Arthur passed away last week. Both Mr. Shetter and his wife, who before her marriage was Miss Grace Geer, were employed at the Borden condenser. The clipping, telling of the sad death of the young man, follows:

Arthur L. Shetter, 18 years old, instructor at Saukiew golf course and son of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Shetter, 1320 Forty-fourth street, Rock Island, died at 1 o'clock this morning in St. Anthony's hospital. He had undergone an operation for acute appendicitis Sunday morning.

He returned home Saturday while at work, taken ill during the morning and was later removed to the hospital. Monday his father, who is an invalid, was also brought to the hospital and treated for shock, having been removed from his home when fire destroyed a large portion of the roof.

The younger Shetter was employed in the auditing department of the Modern Woodmen of America head office in Rock Island. An exceptional golfer, despite his youth, he was named last spring as professional at Saukiew public course and served efficiently throughout the last season. His ability made him well known in tri-city golf circles. He frequently played at various courses other than Saukiew and was considered one of the most promising young golfers in this vicinity.

During the last season he gained much popularity at Saukiew. His instruction there was offered after his working hours and during week-ends. He was a natural player and had acquired the knack of imparting his knowledge of the game.

Native of Rock Island
Arthur Lorain Shetter was born in Rock Island, Dec. 13, 1909. He attended Rock Island public grade schools and later the Rock Island high school. He was the brother of Floyd A. Shetter, former star athlete of Rock Island high school and later of Bradley at Peoria. He was a member of the Christian church and of Camp 26, Modern Woodmen, and had served for some time on the drill team.

Surviving besides the parents are the two brothers, Floyd A., of Rock Island, an instructor at Washington junior high school, and Donald F. Shetter, also of this city.

Amboy Improvement

(Telegraph Special Service)

Amboy—Extensive improvements are being made on the building occupied by Frank Vaughan, undertaker, and Frank Brady, butcher. Work has just been completed on the removal of the old front and a fine new pressed brick front presents a much more pleasing appearance. Painters and decorators are now at work redecorating the interior of the store room, occupied by Mr. Vaughan. The plans for the extensive improvement call for the arrangement of a fine new funeral chapel in the Vaughan section of the building, with special display rooms and the installation of an up-to-date mortuary department. It is probable that Mr. Vaughan will occupy both of the store rooms when the improvement is completed.

NEW HAMPSHIRE SEC. OF STATE UNDER A CLOUD

Charged With Embezzlement of State Money: To Resign

Manchester, N. H., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Secretary of State Hobart Pillsbury is accused of embezzlement of state funds.

The amount involved was put at $134 in a warrant sworn to by Attorney General Jeremy R. Aldrich and Herbert W. Rainey, solicitor for Merrimack County, but the actual discrepancy was said to be nearer $1,000.

Pillsbury, prominent for years in Republican politics and Superintendent of a Sunday School in this city, announced before he would resign as Secretary of State and chairman of the Republican city committee.

At least part of the alleged defalcation concerned "extra election help" expense vouchers said to have been drawn in favor of "A. C. Welles." Mrs. Pillsbury, County Commissioner in Hillsborough county, who has received considerable publicity through her charges of unethical conduct on the part of her associates, and who is a candidate for re-election, was drawn from her marriage Miss Augusta O. Wells.

In a statement issued after he had conferred with Gov. Spaulding Pillsbury declared he would reimburse the state with interest for any amount which might be determined. "I am bonded in the sum of $10,000 and the alleged discrepancies are probably one tenth of that amount, so the state will lose nothing," he said.

"In regard to the pay checks alleged to have been issued to Mrs. Pillsbury, she never received a cent of the state money."

Murder in Rockford

(Telegraph Special Service)

Rockford, Ill., Nov. 5.—Guns barked again Sunday night in Rockford gang warfare, and the life of James Marinelli, 30, steward at the Roma Club, an Italian social organization, was the toll Marinelli was called to the door by the bell ringing at 10:30 last night, and as he opened the door three shots rang out, the victim slumping down, fatally wounded. He died on the way to the Rockford hospital. Three patrons of the club at the time seized John Marinelli, a cousin of the victim insisting that he did the shooting, and he is being held in the city jail for questioning.

A motive for the shooting was sought by police today. The slain man was a brother-in-law of Anna Domino, 19-year-old Rockford girl, who was kidnapped last month and later rescued from her abductors in Janesville, Wis. Police were investigating to learn if the kidnapping may have had a sequel in the shooting.

MAY "CUT" CONVENTION

Hazleton, Pa., Nov. 5.—(AP)—As the international officers of the United Mine Workers of America are unopposed for re-election for another term of two years and as no new wage agreements are to be negotiated during that period, it was announced at district headquarters here today that a referendum vote of the membership will be taken throughout the country and Canada on a proposal to dispense with the next biennial convention scheduled for January. It was pointed out that this would save the union considerable money.

LEE COUNTY RODE
REPUBLICAN WAVE
IN TUESDAY VOTE

G. O. P. Carried All But Six Townships in the County

Riding along with the wave which swept the nation and nation, Lee County voters yesterday gave substantial majorities to the Republican ticket from the head of the ticket clear through, but they turned a cold shoulder to the proposal for a state bond issue of $20,000,000 for fish and game conservation.
The complete returns from the county show that Hoover polled a grand total of 9219 votes against 4493 for Gov. Alfred E. Smith, the Democratic standard bearer. In every township in the county except Amboy first, Brooklyn first, Harmon, Marion, May and Sublette, the Republican candidates polled nice majorities. Gov. Smith and his followers carried those six townships out of the thirty-eight.

"You have merited the marvelous achievement of winning by adhering to a discussion of economic doctrine in a year in which other issues, improperly injected, were expected by the opposition to be determinative.
"By infusing into the campaign your own honest self-respect and respect for others, you gave it tone and direction. The people have voted not only to hold fast to all that is good in government, but also to reward you for diligence and uprightness in the multiplied relationships of your many sided life.

REPUBLICAN GAIN
IN SENATE SEEN
IN VOTE REPORT

Gain of One Definitely
Won; Four Others
are Re-elected

BY RAYMOND Z. HENLE,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

One seat in the Senate had been definitely won by the Republicans and four of their number had been re-elected early today in the drive of the party to tighten its hold on that branch of Congress.
Returns from the election of House members were still meager and showed slight gains for the Republicans, who now have a working majority in the House.

The Democratic Senate upset came in the election of John G. Townsend, a Republican, in Delaware over Senator Thomas F. Bayard, who has served one term. The four Republican Senators re-elected were Reed of Pennsylvania, Johnson of California, Greene of Vermont and LaFollette of Wisconsin.

On the face of returns only two Democrats so far were assured of re-election to the Senate. They were Stephens of Mississippi and Swanson of Virginia, neither of whom had opposition. However, seven of the Democratic senators seeking re-election were ahead. They were KING of Utah, Copeland of New York, Pittman of Nevada, Trammell of Florida, Walsh of Massachusetts, Wheeler of Montana and Bruce of Maryland.

All of the 13 Republican seats involved in the election seemed to be safe, but five Democratic seats were endangered with Edwards of New Jersey, Gerry of Rhode Island, Neely of West Virginia, Dill of Washington and Hunt of Ohio behind.

In Ohio Senator Fess, Republican, seeking re-election, and Theodore Burton, Republican, running for the seat of the late Senator Willis, were holding leads.
A number of Republican leaders in the House were re-elected, including Representative Hawley of Oregon, chairman of the Ways and Means committee.

Tammany Leader's
Ward Goes to Hoover

New York, Nov. 6—(AP)—Herbert Hoover carried the district of George Olvany, leader of Tammany Hall. The vote was Smith 153; Hoover 360.

ROARING REPUBLICAN TIDAL
HANDFUL OF SMALLER STATES

Democratic Nominee Has Chance to Capture
Two New England States to Add to the South

By D. FIELD BRITTLE
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

The roaring Republican tide which already had piled up majorities for Herbert Hoover in all but a handful of states rolled on triumphantly early today as the far west added its support to the fortunes of the favorite son of California.

In the early morning hours the Republican presidential nominee gained such an advantage that Gov. Smith and Chairman Raskob of the Democratic National Committee acknowledged defeat and sent their congratulations.

Smith was leading only in Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, South Carolina, Mississippi, Arkansas, Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

His margin in the southern states remaining in his column appeared fairly substantial, but in Massachusetts and Rhode Island the vote was so close that the final disposition of their electoral vote remained in doubt.

In the Southwest
Assured of a sweeping victory in Oklahoma and Kentucky, and running well ahead in Tennessee and Missouri, the Republican presidential ticket appeared early today to have made a clean sweep of this border group of states for the first time in a general election.

Although Herbert Hoover was leading in Missouri by 27,804 on returns from a third of the state, the outcome still was in doubt as the count proceeded slowly in St. Louis, a Smith stronghold. From the earliest returns, however, Hoover took the lead and clung to it, steadily increasing the gap that separated him from Gov. Smith as the count progressed. While Smith was losing in the state, it appears that the Democratic senatorial and gubernatorial candidates would win out, as both of them held comfortable leads over their Republican opponents, with a fourth of the state reported.

The magnitude of Hoover's victory in Oklahoma and Kentucky was increased as the count neared completion, and in Tennessee the election of the Republican nominee by approximately 10,000 was conceded by the Nashville Tennessean, Democratic newspaper. With but 640 of Tennessee's 2,300 precincts missing Hoover had a lead of 5,916 over Smith.

The Hoover landslide in Oklahoma had reached a plurality of 97,743 on returns from about half the state, or already more than three times the plurality of Warren G. Harding in Oklahoma in 1920.

In Kentucky, the Hoover lead reached 150,983 when 3,461 of the state's 4,096 precincts had reported. It complete returns do not bring an upset, the Republicans will win a block of 53 electoral votes in the border group.

California's thirteen electoral votes were added to the Hoover column, and incomplete returns from the other ten Rocky Mountain and Pacific Coast states indicated that the Republican candidate would sweep this section of the country.

Incomplete returns at 10:30 o'clock tonight, Pacific Coast time, gave Hoover a lead of nearly three to one in California, his home state. Hoover had polled 443,257 votes to Gov. Smith's 193,412 votes when returns from 3232 of California's 9086 precincts had been counted.

Oregon, where Herbert Hoover spent his boyhood, gave the Republican candidate a two to one majority.

Borah, who campaigned for Hoover, rolled up a staggering Republican majority.

In Montana and Nevada the vote was closer, but in both states Hoover apparently had a safe majority. Hoover was ahead in Wyoming.

Hoover was leading in New Mexico and Arizona.

Gov. Smith took a slight lead in Utah, but Republican leaders claimed the margin would be wiped away by later returns.

Colorado, where considerable "wet" sentiment made the result doubtful, apparently swung to the Hoover column.

In New England Three of New England's six states appeared definitely settled in the Hoover column late tonight as the mounting totals of returns piled up.

Maine and Vermont held true to tradition and remained in the Republican column by what appeared likely to be record-breaking majorities. New Hampshire seemed assured for Hoover while Connecticut likewise, showed a margin for the Republican candidates.

Massachusetts and Rhode Island upon which the supporters of both Hoover and Smith centered their attack, remained in the doubtful column.

Ohio apparently has given her 24 electoral votes to Hoover in keeping with those with which she delivered her vote to Harding and Coolidge eight and four years ago.

Leads in Ohio At 1 o'clock this morning, the Republican candidate had amassed a lead of more than 275,000 over Gov. Smith on returns tabulated from approximately 35 percent of the state.

The entire Republican state ticket and the two Republican candidates for United States senator also were leading by majorities ranging from 25,000 on Governor to as high as 50,000 on Senator in less than one fifth of the state.

Hoover's vote in 3542 precincts out of a total of 8990 in the state was 585,125 to 1,500 for Smith; while in the gubernatorial race Myers Y. Cooper had 213,537 votes in 1730 precincts to 187,956 for Congressman Martin L. Davey.

Splits Solid South Four of the hitherto rock-ribbed Democratic states of the solid south showed leads early today for Herbert Hoover, Republican presidential nominee, breaking more than a half century record.

Virginia and Florida gave him a big margin and at 2 o'clock this morning he took the lead in North Carolina from Governor Alfred E. Smith. He was ahead also in Texas.

North Carolina swung from the Smith to the Hoover column when 1087 of the 1753 precincts in the state were tabulated, the vote being Hoover 202,012; Smith 199,843. A big part of the missing returns were in the western part of the state, a normal Republican section, and the Republican state headquarters claimed the state from 15,000 to 20,000 majority.

The Old Dominion state of Virginia had amassed a Hoover lead of nearly 21,000 votes in returns from 1,427 of the 1,665 precincts. The totals were: Hoover 144,905, Smith 123,925.

Hoover's margin in Florida had grown to nearly 15,000 votes over Governor Smith when figures were tallied from 504 of the 1,263 precincts. These gave Hoover 65,156 and Smith 51,329.

The mass turnout of voters was a full reflection of the intense interest that prompted an unparalleled registration of more than forty million voters. Under generally sunny skies and with favorable weather the ballot totals mounted quickly during the early hours of the day and by noon in some of the larger cities, especially those equipped with the convenience of the voting machine, nearly half the registered vote had been cast. Rain fell in scattered sections but there was no noticeable falling in the tide of ballots because of it.

Given An Example. Giving indication by its own eagerness that it needed no particular leadership in the business of the day, the electorate nevertheless was offered an example by President Coolidge who, with Mrs. Coolidge, went to their home at Northampton, Mass., to vote. The presidential candidates themselves likewise exercised their franchise at polling places removed from each other by the width of the continent. Accompanied by a cheering crowd, Governor Smith walked through New York's streets to vote in a store near his hotel, while Mr. Hoover voted on the campus of Stanford University at his Palo Alto, California home.

Disorders Were Few. For the most part the day was characterized by the calmness with which the public voiced its will, scattering instances of disorder came to light, notably in New Jersey, where thousands of persons found their qualifications challenged, and in New York City where some arrests were made at the boxes. One man was shot in West Virginia during a political argument.

Everywhere election officials had taken steps to protect the polling places, Chicago leading other cities in the number of watchers and armed guards it threw about the voting centers. Early hours of the day proved that city a model, however, as the voters streamed through the booths at the rate of nearly 100,000 an hour.

Novel Experience. Californians, three hours behind the east, experienced the novelty of receiving from Massachusetts before they were themselves able to vote. Throughout the south, the votes poured in the polls in unprecedented numbers, in contrast with the usual unconcern with which Dixie has taken national elections.

At every voting booth many women stood in line to take their turn with the men. Registered in totals exceeding any year since they obtained the franchise, the women voted with their men folks to be first at the polls and gladly stood in line awaiting their turn.

West Branch, Ia., Nov. 6 (AP)—Herbert Hoover's birthplace returned a majority of more than ten to one today in favor of its native son over Gov. Alfred E. Smith.

The vote, which was the largest ever cast in this Quaker settlement, stood: Hoover 528; Smith 46.

A celebration was planned for next Thursday, in the event Hoover was elected President. Governor John Hammill has been asked to speak on that occasion.

Mrs. McCormick Gives Praise to the Women

Chicago, Nov. 6 (AP)—Ruth Hanna McCormick, Republican candidate for Congress-at-Large, exclaimed, when it appeared that she undoubtedly would be elected:

"I am delighted with my election—not only on account of my own victory, but because it is a victory for the women of the state. Although my primary election was largely due to volunteer work of the women, my big majority proved, as did my election, that the voters of Illinois no longer feel any prejudice against a woman candidate."

HEMS OUT OF DATE FOR SPORT CLOTHES

Ladies—(AP)—There are no hems to let out on the newest sport clothes. Hems are out of favor and in their stead Paris uses row on row of machine stitching to finish wool sport clothes. The same method is used for cuffs and collars at some of the leading houses of sports apparel.
Tweeds are the cause of the change. They do not hang well, dressmakers say, when finished with hems which have to be put in on the bias, since most of the current season's sport skirts are more or less circular.

WATERPROOF VELVET WET WEATHER STYLE

Paris—(AP)—Rainproof cotton velvet, plain and printed, is extensively used for storm coats, made in colors and leather shades.
Colored leather with linings of printed velvet is also in favor for motor and stormy weather coats. With such coats go handbags and storm hats of printed velvet to match the coat lining.

The WOMAN'S DAY by ALLENE SULLOED

"Curves," says the papers, "are coming back." The girl who wants to be in style no longer has to take the string bean for the model of her figure. A bit of plumpness won't hurt at all.

That, at least, is what we read. But I imagine the urge to take off weight, which has been upon the women of this land for quite a time now, will continue to operate. However much the papers may print about curves the slender figure will continue to be the goal for a great many.

Under such circumstances, a little warning recently written by Prof. Ivor Griffith chemist, in the current American Druggist magazine, is not amiss.
Prof. Griffith takes a shot at the sellers—and users—of medicines which are guaranteed to reduce one's weight. Most of these medicines contain thyroid extract, on the theory that those of us who are a bit stout get that way because our thyroid glands were subnormal.

Now, says Prof. Griffith, to begin with, it is by no means true that all excess flesh is caused by a subnormal thyroid. And, even if it were, thyroid is altogether too powerful a drug to use without a doctor's direction. Not only may it fail to reduce your weight it may actually turn you into an invalid.
"Thyroid should not be self-administered," he writes. "Even the doctors hesitate to use it simply for reducing physical ponderosity."
Apparently trying to reduce by taking medicines is much like trying to reduce by dieting; a doctor's advice is a pretty good thing to have in either case.

For a good many years (to get away from weight reduction) the chaperone has been a social institution more or less resented by the younger generation. When a chaperone goes on a party, one of two things usually happens: the gaiety is apt pretty subdued, or the chaperone is hoodwinked and everything goes about as it would have if she were not present at all.

In Chicago, however, there has popped up a chaperone of a new kind. This lady was employed by a wealthy broker as a companion and mentor for his 18-year-old daughter. The daughter fell in love with a $24-a-week clerk. The clerk, as it happened, was woefully bashful; the young heiress was sure that he loved her but he would not speak.
Enter, then, the chaperone. She explained to the young lady that the young swain needed instruction, and she offered to furnish it. It was agreed. The chaperone had three or four dates with the impecunious young clerk, after which she reported to the girl the young man was bashful no longer.

Shades of Mrs. Grundy! you cry, and I quite agree. But listen further.

Properly instructed, the young man avowed his love to the girl. Then the two consulted the chaperone again. This time she helped them elope to Kansas City and got them neatly married and established in an apartment there.

That sounds as if it might have worked out pretty well, after all. But that isn't quite the end of it. The father hired detectives, trailed the elopers and hauled his new son-in-law back to Chicago, while a police-woman took charge of the chaperone. For the chaperone, it seems, was a woman on probation from the city court for some previous offense. And that's that.

I'm not sure just what the moral of it all is. Perhaps, for all I know, it may indicate the need of a campaign to have the chaperones chaperoned.

Convention of Illinois League Women Voters

Moline, Ill., Oct. 30—(AP)—Having arranged their convention dates so that they may talk over the results of the election, members of the Illinois League of Women Voters will hold their state convention here November 12 to 14.

Plans for the reception of the visiting women voters have been completed by the local committee in charge.

While the convention proper does not open until November 13, the state board and league president will arrive in Moline on November 12, for a pre-convention discussion of past and future policies. The state board meeting will be followed by a drive arranged by the Moline Association of Commerce, to show the visitors the sights of the Tri-Cities. In the evening the Presidents' Dinner will be held, at which the state board will be guests of honor.

Business sessions will be conducted morning and afternoon Tuesday and Wednesday, and Thursday morning, at which time the organization will discuss its program for the coming year, and votes taken on important matters of policy.

An outstanding topic expected to come before the annual session is the legislative policy of the league, which will be especially pertinent at this time in view of the approaching session of the Illinois general assembly. Awarding of the annual prize to the League Scholar will be an important part of the opening program. On the first day of the convention, examination to determine the best scholar will be held and the prize awarded.

BRIDGE PUZZLE

BY FAYAN MATHEY

NUMBER THREE

Diamonds are trumps and South has the lead. North and South must win all five tricks against a perfect defense.

Lay out the cards on a table as shown in the diagram. Study out each hand and figure out how you would solve this problem. Then look at the solution and see if you have done it right. There is only one way in which North and South can get all five tricks. Can you find it?

THE SOLUTION

This problem requires a rather clever unblocking play for a correct solution.

South leads the queen of clubs, and North plays the seven. South next leads a heart, which North trumps with the four. North now leads the ace of trumps, and South discards his last losing heart. Now North leads the deuce of clubs, and South, with the jack and the five, finesses through East's nine and four.

The solution to this hand depends entirely upon North's unblocking of the club suit at the first trick. If North had played the deuce instead of the seven, East would defeat the problem by playing a low club on the fourth trick. South would then have been compelled to overtake the seven with the jack and lead the five to East's nine. Or, if South had failed to overtake, West's ace of spades would have taken the final trick.

College and the Home." This distinguished man will give the club a most delightful afternoon.

Wedding Was An Event of October 20

A very pretty wedding of interest to Dixon and Sterling friends was solemnized in Chicago Saturday, Oct. 20, at 9:30 a. m., which united the lives of Miss Bernice C. Mangan and Thomas P. Conlon. The ceremony took place at high mass in St. Theodore's Catholic church, the Rev. Fr. Nolan officiating. Attending the couple were Miss Helen Foley and Luke Burns, and Miss Margaret Costello and James Mangan. The ushers were James E. Conlon and Franklin H. Carrington.

The bride's gown was ivory satin and she wore a full length tulle veil. Miss Foley was attired in a light green satin frock and Miss Costello was gowned in orchid satin. Both bridesmaids wore hats and accessories en costume.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast and reception were given at the Hotel Widmere East, to fifty relatives and friends of the couple. An orchestra furnished music. Late in the morning the bridal pair left on a motor tour through the eastern states.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Mangan of Chicago, and has held a responsible position with the Illinois Bell Telephone Co. The groom's parents are the late Mr. and Mrs. James E. Conlon, who were long residents of Sterling before moving to Chicago. He attended school in Sterling and has many warm friends there, and in Dixon who will wish him and his bride happiness.

After returning home from the east, Mr. and Mrs. Conlon will reside at 6126 South Wood street, Chicago.

POINTERS FOR PARENTS

How often do we hear parents say: "Our children are so discontented, always wanting something they don't have. We're doing everything in our power to make them happy but it seems they are never satisfied."

Perhaps they may be doing too much. Just as hunger is the best sauce, a little wanting is likely to give the greatest zest to a present or a party or a new dress or a movie.

The children who are satiated with gifts are seldom happy. Yet take a child who never possesses a new toy from one month's end to the other and watch his eyes shine if he is given a ten-cent ball or a horn or a whistle.

I know a family of children who have been handed the good things of life on a silver platter. They have always been overindulged, overfed, overindulged, and waited on by their patient but mistaken parents to the point of martyrdom. Yet a more dissatisfied, pouty bunch of youngsters I have seldom seen.

The worst of such spoiling is that if by any trick of fate all these indulgences should be taken away, they would be miserable without them.

That is a dreadful tangle for life to get us into. To be unhappy with what we have and to be more unhappy without it.

Another thing—as indulged children get older, their demands increase. Their taste in toys will be their taste in cars, in trips, and week-ends, and fur coats and all sorts of extravagances. And with it all they won't be happy.

The thirst for thrills is only an aftermath of indulgence in childhood. It isn't the happy young people that go on madcap chases as a rule, but the unhappy ones, forever hunting the chimera that always seems just around the corner.

It's a great mistake to give children too many things, no matter how much money there happens to be in the family. And it is a mistake to plan too much for them. Let them have the thrill and effort of doing their own planning, at least part of the time. If you don't, they will develop an inertia that is deadly.

All children should dress simply, live simply and be kept busy. They should not be given new toys constantly. Their thrills should be few and far between.

America has a peculiar habit of boiling up from the bottom. It is safe to say that a large proportion of our leading citizens in 1950 will be from the children who today are learning to depend on themselves, to think for themselves, wait on themselves, and act for themselves.

Queen Mary Wore Most Famous Jewel

London, Nov. 6—(AP)—The state opening of Parliament today by King George with Queen Mary by his side wearing the Cullinan diamond, the largest in the world and estimated to be worth up to $25,000,000, has revived the speculation over what became of the "other half" of the great stone.

When the Cullinan diamond was dug from the earth at the premier mines at Cullinan, South Africa, in 1905 it was found that one side was so flat and smooth that it was considered to be only part of a much bigger diamond. The enormous half brother, miners, financiers, geologists, and thieves have been searching for 23 years. Its whereabouts and even its existence is one of the world's mysteries. The Cullinan diamond originally weighed 3025 1/4 carats.

Enjoyable Meeting of Men's Bible Class

The Men's Bible Class of the Grace Evangelical church met at the home of Rev. F. Brandellner last evening. The meeting was in charge of the vice president, Ray Strook. A vocal trio by Rev. and Mrs. Brandellner and their daughter Helen entitled "Beautiful Story of Love", was appreciated and Mrs. Brandellner, Lois Brandellner was the piano accompanist. Prayer was offered by the pastor followed by a very interesting talk on the "Temperance Movement" in our country by Fred Krahler. A number of questions were fully discussed. Refreshments were served by the host. Twenty-eight men were present.

RETURN FROM TRIP TO NEBRASKA

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wilson, Mrs. Dennis Harden, and Mrs. P. A. Covert have returned from a ten-day automobile trip to Nebraska, including visits at Omaha, Lincoln, York and Benedict. They had a most delightful time and enjoyed visits with friends and relatives very much. Their return trip to Dixon took three days because of the weather. Between Lincoln and York they encountered a terrific blizzard and on Friday and Saturday traveled through snow. When they arrived at Clinton, Ia., and Sterling, Ill., last evening they were happy to think they were so nearly home. Some days in Nebraska were almost like today, bright and sunny.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wirth Were Honored

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Heckman delightfully entertained last evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wirth, who are leaving tomorrow for California where they will make their future home. There were thirty five guests in attendance, and music and games occupied the happy hours. A delicious picnic supper was a feature of the enjoyable affair.
As a token of affection and esteem, the friends present made Mr. and Mrs. Wirth the gift of a handsome carving set with their best wishes. The set was presented by Mrs. Heckman to Mr. and Mrs. Wirth in behalf of all in attendance. All wished Mr. and Mrs. Wirth a safe journey and while regretting their departure, hope they will be happy in their home in sunny California.

OUTDOING BOSS TWEED.

The story of Boss Tweed, who looted New York City a generation ago of nobody knows how many millions of dollars, is one of the most interesting stories in the history of American cities.

Tweed's insolent, "Well, what are you going to do about it?" when confronted with proofs of his thieving is a classic. When we read his story, we comfort ourselves with the thought that our municipal governments have at least progressed to a point where nothing quite so bare-faced and arrogant as a Tweed ring is ever possible again.

But we're just kidding ourselves. Tweed was only a piker. The behind-the-scenes high-binders of Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit and Cleveland would consider him a weakling. They are getting more money from honest folk than Tweed ever got; their defiance of the law is more arrogant and cocksure than Tweed's ever was; and their immunity to prosecution by the officers of the law seems to be even greater than Tweed's.

Tweed's dominance over New York was, after all, an affair that could be remedied without too much trouble. It was comparatively easy to arouse the indignation of the citizenry, and a shower of ballots soon ended Tweed's reign. But the modern racketeer's grip on our cities is something that will be a whole lot harder to shake.

To begin with, it is harder to shock us than it used to be. Prosperity has dulled the edge of our civic conscience. We have grown pretty cynical about official nonfeasance and graft. We take it for granted that there will be shady doings behind the city hall and the courthouse. "Turn the rascals out" is no longer an effective war cry.

And, in the second place, the modern racketeer is no pacifist. He is daring and desperate. Given a minimum of official eye-shutting and he will work his machine guns and bombs at all hours. Tweed employed a certain amount of finesse; the racketeer simply says "gimme!" over the muzzle of a revolver. Fear is his most powerful asset.

The racketeer gets his chief support, however, from public indifference. We take the underworld too much as a matter of course. We have not yet realized that our cities cannot continue to exist half civilized and half jungle. The stratum composed of beer runners, hijackers, gambling "kings," fixers, politico-criminal go betweens and gunmen is more than a disquieting, scandalous phenomenon; it represents a force that must be got under control before it wrecks us. Unless we wake up, and do so pretty speedily, we are due for a condition not so very far removed from actual anarchy.

Boss Tweed was a bad one, to be sure. But he wasn't half so baneful an influence on the life of his time as are the modern racketeer and his satellites.

BY BENEFIT OF INVASION.

For quite a few years now American marines and naval forces have been in charge of affairs in Haiti.

A good many people have felt that this was not right, and the United States has been accused of seizing the island without regard for the feelings of its inhabitants. Native leaders who have protested have gone to jail; it is possible, reading the record, to work up quite a bit of sympathy for the oppressed Haitians.

But there's another side to it. A writer in the current Review of Reviews points out that the medical staff of our navy has been extremely active in Haiti. In 1915 nearly half of the country's population of 2,000,000 suffered from some form of tropical or social diseases. Today the percentage of victims is inconsiderable. Health stations and clinics have been established throughout the island. Disease is being conquered.

When you're pitying the Haitians, don't forget that point.

How like a flower the ladies are these days! When they fade they dye!

Among certain Indian tribes it is regarded as improper for a woman to speak to her daughter's husband. And they call these savages wild!

Recent tests by the British War Department show that the tank is obsolete. We still have a few nightclubs here and there in America, however.

Ladies used to leave the gentlemen after dinner to tell their stories and smoke their cigars. Now they have the gentlemen after dinner to tell their stories and smoke their cigars.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Tynmites, high on the mast, 'The captain watched and laughed, all wondered, while the time flew past, how soon they'd be discovered by the captain down below. They felt that he would look around until the Tynmites were found. Then, what would happen to them all, of course they didn't know.

Said Cappy, "Well, we all can rest away up in this queer crew's nest. That's what they call this place we're in. My, what a funny name." Just then the captain shouted, loud, "Hey! Way up there! You Tyn crowd had better come down here on deck. Just what is this, a game?"

"Whoops! We're discovered!" Clowdy said. "Oh, my, oh, my, I really dread to climb down to the deck again. I wonder what's in store. The captain sure will start a fuss, if he is still real mad at us." But Scouty snapped, "Oh, let's go down ere he begins to roar."

So, down they started, very slow.

Soon they were down, right by his side, and promptly little Carpy cried, "We're really very sorry. Please forgive us, just this once." "Oh no!" the captain answered. "You shall all have bits of work to do. If you should go unpunished, you would think that I'm a dunce."

So, everyone was put to work and warne dhe shouldn't try to snirk. "Now first of all," the captain said, "I have a job that's neat. I'll just take one, so Clowdy can step out and be a waiter man. Thus Clowdy served the captain bold, when he sat down to eat."

(The Tynmites are given some more work in the next story.)

A GARDENER

She kissed the flowers and added beauty, though there was much beauty there; She touched the green of leafy forest and it changed to red and gold; Just one look into the heavens and a brighter azure fair.

Reflected full her beauty and her sweetness manifold. She gazed into the fountain deep and diamonds shown around; She breathed the moonlight and the stars above threw kisses down to her; She wooed the birds and talked to beasts that gambled o'er the ground.

Where'er she trod she seemed to be a Heavenly gardener.

DIXON PIONEER IS SUBJECT SKETCH IN HISTORIC JOURNAL

Alexander Charters' Estate Here Visited by Notables

The Journal of the Illinois State Historical Society in its latest issue published the following concerning Alexander Charters, a pioneer of Dixon, written by Blanche S. Charters:

Alexander Charters, travelling through the West with a party of gentlemen in the year 1837—the year of Queen Victoria's accession to the throne of England—was so charmed with the then village of Dixon, that he purchased the handsome estate on the bluffs of Rock River which he named Hazelwood, where he lived the life of a country gentleman for more than forty years.

His title, "The Governor," was purely honorary, being accorded him by his countless friends and admirers, in sincere and loyal tribute to his great gentility, and his almost unstinted hospitality. Everyone who came to Dixon in those years was his guest, and the saying passed current that "after one crossed the bridge all roads lead to Hazelwood."

The Visitor's Book at Hazelwood held such distinguished names as: Adeline Patti, on her first concert tour; Ole Bull, the violinist; Margaret Fuller, Countess Ossoli, William Cullen Bryant, whose poem, "The Forest Hymn" was inspired by the magnificent old trees of Hazelwood. The visit of Artemus Ward was a memorable occasion, a host of The Governor's Dixon friends being invited to Hazelwood to meet him.

Judge Charters, cultured and elegant, the only son of The Governor, and having just completed his study of the Law in "The Court of the Inner Temple" in London, arrived at Hazelwood in 1852, spending several years there, later residing in a delightful home on the borders of Rock River in Dixon.

And it was in this delightful spot that Madame Galli Curci, attracted by the spring-time perfume of lilacs in profusion—her favorite flower—wondered in admiration and delight wishing that she might long linger here. And here, also, in earlier years, Abraham Lincoln was entertained, passing through Dixon on his way from Springfield to Freeport for the celebrated Lincoln-Douglas debate.

There still hangs on the wall at Hazelwood, a draft of the franchise of the Illinois Central Railway, which at the very urgent request of Governor Charters, passed through the Hazelwood Estate.

Governor Charters was born on the rock century, 1800, and died in 1878. And the entire community as they had been his guests for so many years—and indeed the whole countryside—now became his mourners. Special trains on the Illinois Central brought them to Hazelwood. The eulogy was pronounced by The Governor's long-time friend, and the genial and hospitable host of Hazelwood was laid to rest in the family cemetery on the Hazelwood Estate, located on Mount Kennedy, a beautiful rise of ground overlooking the river in a broad and sweeping view.

And to this day the memory of his spirit, so kindly and so generous, still pervades the domain of Hazelwood, and still lives in the hearts of the many friends and admirers of "The Governor."

NO ROOM FOR NEUTRALS

That pale word "neutral" sits becomingly on the lips of weaklings. But with men of brains. Find fuel in their blood, the men whose minds Hold a sympathetic converse with their hearts. Such men are never neutral. That word stands Unsexed and important in realms of speech.

When mighty problems face a startled world, No virtue man is neutral, right or wrong. His thoughts go forth, assertive, unafraid, To stand by his convictions and to do His part in shaping issues to an end. Silence may guard the doors of useless words.

At dictate of discretion; but to stand Without opinion in a world which needs

Constructive thinking, is a coward's part.

OUR FLAG

O holy flag, light the highway of our God; Till the dear cross of God to men shall show That stripes and stars both mark the path he trod, With its red love and its white for law, And its blue for the hope that our fathers saw Of a larger liberty.

Wellington, New Zealand, Nov. 5.—(AP)—The first stage of his voyage to the great ice barrier in Ross Sea was completed today by Commander Richard E. Byrd, who arrived with 14 members of his South Polar expedition. The party came on the whaler Larsen and will await the arrival of the bark City of New York and the steamship Eleanor Boling, the other members of the expedition.

In responding to a civic welcome Commander Byrd said that in honor of the memory of Scott and Shackleton he was going to carry a British flag on his flight to the South Pole.

Well Said, Prof.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—(AP)—The average football player in larger universities brings $10,000 to his school through gate receipts and endowments, but gets nothing in return but cracked ribs and mean looks from stern professors for failing in his studies. James Weber Linn, professor of English at the University of Chicago, said yesterday.

QUIET DAY FOR HOOVER

BY JAMES L. WEST
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Palo Alto, Cal., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover today became a mere private in the greatest army of Americans that ever went to the polls to vote in a national election. The Republican Presidential candidate had travelled 3,000 miles across the continent to cast his ballot.

His voting place was precinct number two on the campus of Stanford University, where he had worked as a youth to gain an education. With his own were to be cast 124 ballots of four other members of his family, those of Mrs. Hoover and his two sons, Allan and Herbert, Jr. and Mrs. Herbert Hoover, Jr.
In the group was one of the million of first voters whom the nominee, in the course of the campaign, had welcomed into an active participation into the political affairs of the nation. This was Allan Hoover, who attained his majority only last August.

May Know Tonight

Because of the difference in time between the west and the east, first results of the election will begin reaching the Republican standard bearer in mid-afternoon, and before midnight, Pacific coast time, he expects to learn whether he is to head a new Republican administration in the control of the federal government.

The transcontinental swing concluded yesterday with a boisterous homecoming welcome to the familiar scenes of the Stanford Campus. Hoover last night sounded the last note in his campaign in an appeal to the electorate over the radio to march in full strength to the polls and disregard sectional lines in making their decision.

His Final Plea

"There ought no longer to be any north, south, east or west in our national thought," he said. "Our ideals as Americans have been moulded and welded under leadership of men and women of every section of the country. The greatest progress can come in the advancement of our institutions, our ideas and our ideals by the common contribution of every section."

Urging also that the people make an independent determination of their conclusions on the issues of the campaign, Hoover said: "Democracy can not survive if the ballot is to be cast upon somebody's order or direction. Democracy in

Immediately after he concluded his final talk of the campaign, the radio brought him the last word of his Democratic opponent which also was carried over a nationwide hook-up of stations.

MRS. SMITH'S BIRTHDAY

New York, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Governor Alfred E. Smith hopes the voters will make his wife first lady of the land as a birthday gift.

Today is Mrs. Smith's birthday and the only other time during their marriage that election day fell on November 6 was ten years ago when her husband was first elected Governor of New York.

The election of her husband to the presidency today, said Mrs. Smith, was the only thing she wanted. "And," she added, "I'm going to get it, too."

Satisfied with the campaign he has made, Governor Smith awaited the verdict of the nation confident that he and his running mate, Senator Joe T. Robinson, would "go together to victory."

The Governor and his wife decided to vote at noon. They had to go to a stationery store in Forty-eight Street, near Madison Avenue, the polling place for the precinct in which the Hotel Biltmore, their city residence, is located. Other members of their family live in various parts of the city.

In the evening the Governor will hear the returns at the National Democratic headquarters in the General Motors Building on Broadway and later at the Biltmore.

Had Busy Day

The final day of the campaign was a busy one for the Democratic nominee. Shortly after noon he broadcast a final plea to the farmers of the mid-west, later he met newspapermen and told them he felt "all right" about the outcome and in the evening he summed up his campaign in a radio address.

In his final talk to the voters, delivered in the broadcasting room at Carnegie Hall but relayed over ninety radio stations, Governor Smith assured him his hands were united and free.

"I have made no promises to any man or any group of men," he said. "Nobody was authorized to make any promises for me and, in fact, none has been made. I can enter upon the duties of the greatest office in the world without commitment to anybody except the American people."

The Governor reviewed his administration of the affairs of New York state and said he was willing to stand on that record.

He asserted it "the duty of every American citizen, man or woman, to vote according to the dictates of conscience, solely upon the basis of what he or she believes to be the best interest of the country itself and not upon the basis of any passion or any prejudice."

He thanked the voters for the receptions accorded him in the many cities he visited and expressed regret he had been unable to visit every state in the union.

CURTIS GETS ON JOB

Topeka, Kansas, Nov. 6.—(AP)—The habit of a political lifetime unbroken at the end of his greatest campaign, Senator Charles Curtis was ready today to turn immediately from the current election to his neglected Senatorial duties.

Closing his campaign last night in the City Auditorium before his home town people, a custom of the past 33 years, the Republican Vice-Presidential nominee retired early, as is his habit, to rest for his full day ahead.

He expected to be among the first to vote, shortly after 8 a. m., in his home precinct. After a few hours work in his office, and a brief rest at his home the candidate proposes to leave his home town about 6 p. m., even before the polls close, to hurry back to Washington to dig into neglected Senatorial work.

Although railroad officials have planned to convey election news to him on his overnight trip to Chicago, the Senator said, he would retire early tonight and was not to be awakened to hear late bulletins.

ROBINSON CONFIDENT

Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 6.—(AP)—Senator Joe T. Robinson rested at his home here today, planning but one formal activity—the casting of his ballot at a neighboring drug store.

The Vice Presidential nominee said he was confident of victory for the Democratic party. He planned, with Mrs. Robinson, to receive the returns by radio in his home tonight.

Last night he closed his campaign with an address delivered at a homecoming celebration, signalling the end of a tour of thirty states, one of the longest a candidate for Vice-President has undertaken.

Riding with Mrs. Robinson at the head of a torch light parade he received the cheers of Little Rock's thousands. Behind him in the parade rode six former Governors of Arkansas and hundreds of political leaders and well-wishers from over the state.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

News From Grid Camps of Large Schools of West

Chicago, Nov. 6—(AP)—Amos Alonzo Stagg's reputation for playing tricks on the football field is making the comeback campaign of his Chicago University eleven a difficult one.

The "Grand Old Man" of Big Ten football has played possum so often in his 37 years of coaching at Chicago that no matter how weak his Maroon team may be, not one of his opponents believes it. Consequently, Chicago loses a chance to catch any team over-confident and lazy.

This week's example is Wisconsin. From comparative scores this season, Coach Glen Thistlethwaite's big team is favored to win Saturday's contest handily. But instead of over-confidence, the Badgers appear imbued with the spirit that nothing but long, hard work can turn back the Chicago invasion and keep them in the championship struggle.

Saturday's contest, the thirty-second between the rivals, will be the first at Camp Randall, Madison, since 1912. All were played at Chicago since then to give Wisconsin alumni an opportunity to see their team in action.

Ohio State and Iowa, who meet at Columbus in the headline attraction of the Big Ten's program Saturday, are framing aerial attacks. "Big Chief" Mayes McLain, Iowa fullback, returned to the squad last night and expects to get into the battle.

Michigan, too, was developing a passing attack in its preparation for the Navy game.

So heavy were injuries at Minnesota that Coach Clarence Spears was forced to abolish practice yesterday. His latest cripples are Captain George Gibson, All-American guard candidate; Bob Tanner, end, and Art Pharmer, a sub for Bronko Nagurski, who is still out.

Indiana, which meets Minnesota Saturday, also had several cripples, the latest of whom is Paul Harrel, kicking halfback.

Purdue now is fearing Northwestern. Coach Jimmie Phelan shot his men through a hard scrimmage yesterday, stressing both offense and defense. Bill Miller, fullback, appears out of the game with a bad knee. Northwestern, however, will train lightly all week.

Hooks and Slides

ON WITH THE ARGUMENT It has been demonstrated again this season that players make a football coach. And it has been demonstrated also that a coach make his players. So the argument stands as it always will stand.

There have been some pretty good examples this year, however, to support the contention that the greatest coaching skill cannot function without some good material. Pop Yost took one good look at the squad which reported the first day at Michigan and decided he was not coaching the team. Tad Weiman, he decided, was to be the coach of that bunch.

Knute Rockne knew last spring that there weren't going to be any horsemen or horses at Notre Dame this fall and he interviewed himself plenty to that effect. He admitted modestly that he couldn't do anything with the boys.

RIGHT ON THE CHIN Grand Old Man Stagg must have known that there was only a slight

THE RULES
1—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW to HEN is three strokes. COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.
2—You can change only one letter at a time.
3—You must have a complete word of common usage, for each pump slang words and abbreviations don't count.
4—The order of letters cannot be changed.
One solution is printed on page 7.

chance for Chicago to win a game, but there was no out for the grand old man. He said nothing and went into training to take it.

Michigan, Notre Dame and Chicago had no material to work with, it is apparent, but Harvard and Navy had much better material than the early season scores indicated and the old grads whimpered.

Little at Georgetown and Chick Meehan at New York University continue to produce winning teams without any abundance of spectacular talent and Bill Roper somehow manages to win some games season after season at Princeton.

MOVE OVER, YOU VOWS!
Red Cagle, some able critics believe, is as great a football player as Jim Thorpe, Eddie Mahan and George Gipp and a better player than Red Grange.

He has shown that he can carry the ball in the open field with as much skill as the other red head and in addition he can charge, kick, pass, block and tackle as well as the immortals with whom he is being mentioned.

There is no doubt that Cagle gets help past the line of scrimmage and well through the secondary by magnificent interference, but the Illinois "77" wouldn't have gone far in any game without Britton and McIlwain clearing the way for him.

GREAT ON DEFENSE, TOO
Tad Jones says that Cagle has football sense to an amazing degree and that on the defense he is uncanny in placing himself in the path of a play or a pass. West Point records show that he has knocked down and intercepted more passes than all the other Army players combined.

Cagle can throw a ball with such precision that an observer remarked after the Harvard game that it each man at whom he had tossed a pass had stood at attention the ball would have hit him between the eyes. That's shooting.

From the evidence and testimony then it would seem that Cadet Cagle is really very good.

Uzudon Outpointed von Porat Last Eve
New York, Nov. 6—(AP)—Otto Von Porat's upward progress in the heavyweight division has been checked temporarily at least by that Rock of the Pyrenees, Paulino Uzudon.

The Norwegian, who has been cutting a wide swat in middle western fistic circles, found it was easier to hit Paulino than to floor him and consequently dropped a ten round decision before 15,000 customers at Madison Square Garden.

As a matter of fact all the flooring that was done last night was done by Paulino. The Basque woodchopper caught Von Porat's long chin with a jolting right in the first round and dropped the Norwegian to the canvas for a count of nine. The process was repeated again in the fifth round.

Von Porat waited until the last round to demonstrate the paralyzing power of his punch. He caught Paulino flush with several right hand punches that staggered the Spaniard as he never has been staggered before. That round and the fourth, however, were all that Von Porat won, according to The Associated Press score sheet. All the others went to Paulino.

Boxer Badly Hurt in Chicago Battle
Chicago, Nov. 6—(AP)—Billy Showers, youthful St. Paul middleweight boxer, was believed to be in a critical condition today, suffering from either concussion of the brain, a hemorrhage or a fracture at the base of the brain, as the result of a vicious ring battle with Shuffle Callahan of Chicago.

After absorbing a terrific punishment in the scheduled 10 round bout at White City last night, Showers collapsed and fell unconscious in the sixth round. After physicians had worked for 45 minutes attempting to revive him, a pulmotor squad from a nearby fire department was called but it also failed. He then was taken to a hospital.

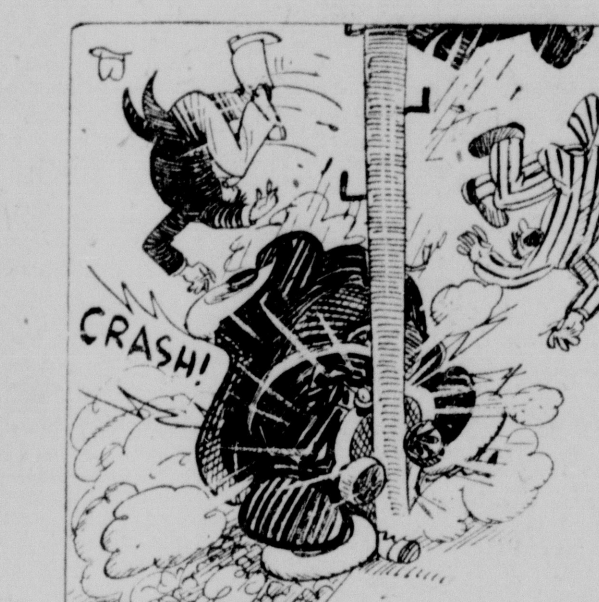

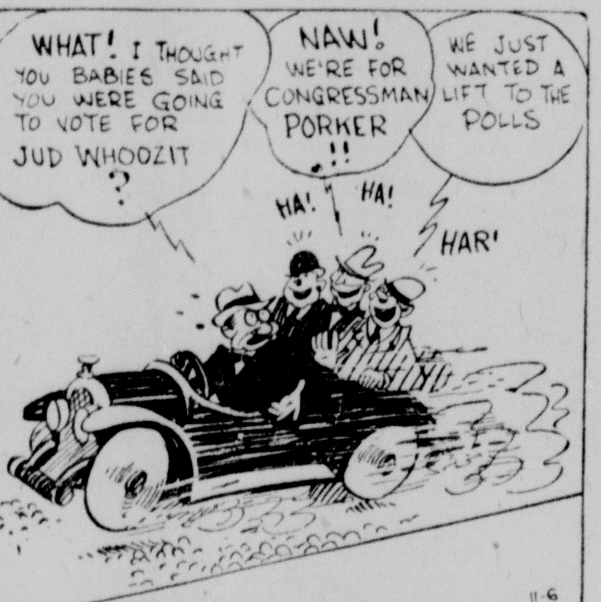

Callahan was taken into custody under no charge by the police, pending outcome of Showers' injuries. At the hospital, Showers was in a semi-comatose condition and repeated that his head was buzzing and very sore.

SON OF FORMER DIXONITES DIED IN ROCK ISLAND

Arthur Shetter Passed Away Suddenly After an Operation

The following clipping from the Rock Island Argus will be of interest to many Dixon people who were well acquainted with Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Shetter, former residents of this city, whose son Arthur passed away last week. Both Mr. Shetter and his wife, who before her marriage was Miss Grace Geer, were employed at the Borden condorsery. The clipping, telling of the sad death of the young man, follows:

Arthur L. Shetter, 18 years old, instructor at Sauklee golf course and son of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Shetter, 1320 Forty-fourth street, Rock Island, died at 1 o'clock this morning in St. Anthony's hospital. He had undergone an operation for acute appendicitis Sunday morning.

Taken ill Saturday while at work, he returned home during the morning and was later removed to the hospital. Monday his father, who is an invalid, was also brought to the hospital and treated for shock, having been removed from his home when fire destroyed a large portion of the roof.

The younger Shetter was employed in the auditing department of the Modern Woodmen of America head office in Rock Island. An exceptional golfer, despite his youth, he was named last spring as professional at Sauklee public course and served efficiently throughout the last season. His ability made him well known in tri-city golf circles. He frequently played at various courses other than Sauklee and was considered one of the most promising young golfers in this vicinity.

During the last season he gained much popularity at Sauklee. His instruction there was offered after his working hours and during week-ends. He was a natural player and had acquired the knack of imparting his knowledge of the game.

Native of Rock Island
Arthur Lorain Shetter was born in Rock Island, Dec. 13, 1909. He attended Rock Island public grade schools and later the Rock Island high school. He was the brother of Floyd A. Shetter, former star athlete of Rock Island high school and later of Bradley at Peoria. He was a member of the Christian church and of Camp 26, Modern Woodmen, and had served for some time on the drill team.

Surviving besides the parents are the two brothers, Floyd A., of Rock Island, an instructor at Washington junior high school, and Donald F. Shetter, also of this city.

Amboy Improvement

(Telegraph Special Service)
Amboy—Extensive improvements are being made on the building occupied by Frank Vaughan, undertaker, and Frank Brady, butcher. Work has just been completed on the removal of the old front and a fine new pressed brick front presents a much more pleasing appearance. Painters and decorators are now at work redecorating the interior of the store room, occupied by Mr. Vaughan. The plans for the extensive improvement call for the arrangement of a fine new funeral chapel in the Vaughan section of the building, with special display rooms and the installation of an up-to-date mortuary department. It is probable that Mr. Vaughan will occupy both of the store rooms when the improvement is completed.

NEW HAMPSHIRE SEC. OF STATE UNDER A CLOUD

Charged With Embezzlement of State Money: To Resign

Manchester, N. H., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Secretary of State Hobart Pillsbury is accused of embezzlement of state funds.

The amount involved was put at $134 in a warrant sworn to by Attorney General Jeremy R. Aldrich and Herbert W. Rainey, solicitor for Merrimack County, but the actual discrepancy was said to be nearer $1,000.

Pillsbury, prominent for years in Republican politics and Superintendent of a Sunday School in this city, announced he would resign as Secretary of State and chairman of the Republican city committee.

At least part of the alleged defalcation concerned "extra election help" expense vouchers said to have been drawn in favor of "A. C. Weller," Mrs. Pillsbury, County Commissioner in Hillsborough county, who has received considerable publicity through her charges of unethical conduct on the part of her associates, and who is a candidate for re-election, was before her marriage Miss Augusta O. Weller.

In a statement issued after he had conferred with Gov. Spaulding Pillsbury declared he would reimburse the state with interest for any amount which might be determined. "I am bonded in the sum of $10,000 and the alleged discrepancies are probably one tenth of that amount, so the state will lose nothing," he said.

"In regard to the pay checks alleged to have been issued to Mrs. Pillsbury, she never received a cent of the state money."

Murder in Rockford

(Telegraph Special Service)

Rockford, Ill., Nov. 5.—Guns barked again Sunday night in Rockford gang warfare, and the life of James Marinelli, 30, steward at the Roma Club, an Italian social organization, was the toll. Marinelli was called to the door by the bell ringing at 10:30 last night, and as he opened the door three shots rang out, the victim slumping down, fatally wounded. He died on the way to the Rockford hospital. Three patrons of the club at the time seized John Marinelli, a cousin of the victim insisting that he did the shooting, and he is being held in the city jail for questioning.

A motive for the shooting was sought by police today. The slain man was a brother-in-law of Anna Lomino, 19-year-old Rockford girl, who was kidnapped last month and later rescued from her abductors in Janesville, Wis. Police were investigating to learn if the kidnapping may have had a sequel in the shooting.

MAY "CUT" CONVENTION
Hazleton, Pa., Nov. 5.—(AP)—As the international officers of the United Mine Workers of America are unopposed for re-election for another term of two years and as no new wage agreements are to be negotiated during that period, it was announced at district headquarters here today that a referendum vote of the membership will be taken throughout the country and Canada on a proposal to dispense with the next biennial convention scheduled for January. It was pointed out that this would save the union considerable money.
